Nazi Warplanes Subject Britain to New "Ordeal by Fire" With Incendiary Bombs and Drums of Time-Fused Gasoline; Brigades Keep Busy Fighting Night-Long Flames; RAF Fighters Drive Back Waves of German Bombers Headed For London; Italian High Command Admits Widespread British Raids

HUNGARIAN AND RUMANIAN FOREIGN MINISTERS TO MEET IN EFFORT TO SETTLE DIFFERENCES

By The Associated Press

High in his Obersalzberg mountain chalet Adolf Hitler enacted the role of behind-the-scenes peacemaker in the Balkan crisis today while his bombers subjected the British Isles to a new ordeal by fire with salvos of incendiary and time-fused gasoline bombs.

The Nazi Fuehrer received Italy's Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and presumably dictated his desires for maintenance of the status quo in southeast Europe, newly threatened with war between Rumania and Hungary.

Count Ciano then left by plane for Vienna accompanied by Germany's Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, for a four-power parley tomorrow with Balkan representatives aimed at settling Hungary's claim on the rich Rumanian province of Transylvania.

Hitler has previously expressed a stern wish to keep the flames of the main European conflict from spreading to the so-called "Balkan powderkeg." For two reasons:

1. To ensure the uninterrupted flow of vital oil and food supplies from Rumania and Hungary to Germany for the battle against Britain.

2. To permit Germany to concentrate on Britain alone without having to direct troops by taking sides in a back-door conflict in southeast Europe.

REBELLION IN AFRICAN EMPIRE LAID TO LONDON

Vichy France, Aug. 28.—(P)—The French government disclosed today what it called a British-inspired rebellion in France's African empire.

The government declared that all necessary dispositions have been taken to localize the situation.

(General Charles De Gaulle recognized by Britain as the leader of the Free Frenchmen) announced yesterday that the governor of Chad French territory in the heart of Africa, had notified him of a decision to fight on the side of the British rather than yield to the Vichy government.

A communique said that this was not the first time that Britain had attempted to influence French colonies in Africa referring to a British offer of protection for all parts of the French empire which sided with her after France's armistice with Germany and Italy.

The communique also referred to British Prime Minister Churchill's offer shortly before the armistice to make Britain and France one country with common citizenship.

This communique said was incompatible with French interests. The rebellious situation arose in French East Africa, the announcement went on, when the military governor of the Chad region Colonel De Larminat, went to British West Africa after making contact with General De Gaulle to incite the Chad population to "rebellion."

It was not made clear whether the Chad "rebellion" had spread to other regions of French East Africa.

Four of Correspondent Fails to Disclose Berlin Seriously Damaged by British Bombs

BY PRESTON GROVER

Berlin, Aug. 28.—(P)—A personal tour of virtually every major part of central Berlin, including Hitler's chancellery and other official quarters, has failed to disclose a single bomb hole caused by British raids.

Important war industries in the outskirts of the city are in a protected area which I was unable to visit of course but I have been able to find an informed report of those sections who report either fire or explosions in those districts.

Apparently more damage has been done by German anti-aircraft projectiles than by British raids and such damage is trifling.

After the British raid Monday night was reported broken by falling splinters. A bucket full of tar broken off by a hunk of shell fell near this correspondent, but the monetary damage was slight.

Military authorities say it is extremely difficult to determine at a distance the difference between large calibre anti-aircraft fire and medium weight bomb explosions.

I have heard both but I would hesitate to swear that three extraordinary loud explosions heard in the far northwest outskirts of Berlin Monday morning were bombs.

With Death Lurking in Every Wave During Early Part of Voyage, Army Transport American Legion Arrives in New York Harbor With More Than Eight Hundred Refugees Including Norwegian Royal Family

DESTROYERS FORM ESCORT INTO PORT

New York Aug. 28.—(P)—After a perilous voyage during part of which death seemed to lurk in every wave the army transport American Legion arrived in New York harbor today with more than 800 American refugees.

The voyage which began at Petsamo Finland Aug. 16 carried the vessel through mine areas north of Scotland at a time when Germany was proclaiming unrestricted warfare in British waters.

The Norwegian Crown Princess Martha and her children fleeing from Scandinavia were taken off the American Legion down the bay by a coast guard cutter. They landed at the Battery where arrangements had been made to take them immediately to the Waldorf Astoria hotel.

Mrs. Florence Jaffray Harrison U. S. minister to Norway and a number of other diplomats remained aboard until the vessel docked in Brooklyn.

The royal party was met by Wilhelm De Meijer, Norwegian minister to the United States and George T. Sumner, chief of protocol of the State Department. At the crown princess request there was a minimum of ceremony.

The royal party planned to drive to Hyde Park tomorrow and be the guests of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt until the crown princess can find suitable quarters.

The American Legion was picked up 500 miles at sea by two United States destroyers forming an honorary escort.

Virtually all the 897 passengers were American fleeing countries under German and Russian domination.

Otto Heischius, Pulitzer prize winning correspondent for the New York Times who was a passenger, told in a dispatch to his paper how radios on the ship picked up German stations which described the trip as a "warrior voyage" and "a triumph for the Lord."

Willkie had arrived here a few minutes earlier by plane from New York.

Mrs. Taylor wouldn't accept the 90 cent charge on Willkie's check but she did get his autograph.

Washington Aug. 28.—(P)—Supporters of a compulsory military training deferred in the senate today a new effort to defer the conscription program until 1941 should the dire existence of an emergency.

By a 55 to 27 vote the senate rejected an amendment offered to the Burke-Wadsworth bill by Senator Wiley (R-Mo.) which would have permitted immediate selective registration of men from 21 through 30 but which would have prohibited calling men into service until congress declared the emergency necessary.

Hope dashed by the 55 to 27 vote of rejection of a proposal to limit conscription to a time of war or threatened invasion, opposition leaders resignedly told reporters their fight was over.

We've put up the best fight we know how, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) said gloomily. "We did the best we could do. Now it's up to the house."

NATIONAL GUARD BILL IS SIGNED

Washington Aug. 28.—(P)—President Roosevelt has signed legislation authorizing him to call 396,000 members of the National Guard and army reserve for 12 months of active duty.

The White House announced Mr. Roosevelt's action saying the measure was signed last night.

Congressional action on the guard legislation finally was completed last week.

Now that the legislation is signed Mr. Roosevelt may summon the guard to duty at any time.

The army high command, it is reported, has set September 15 tentatively as the date for mobilization of the first contingent.

That contingent probably will number 35,000 officers and men but there has been no announcement as to the units from which the men will be drawn. There have been indications, however, that those units probably would be the thirtieth, forty-first, forty-fourth and forty-fifth.

On September 17, date was set upon some authorities reported because the army desired to give guardsmen two weeks at home between the end of summer maneuvers and the beginning of the 12-months service period. The last maneuvers ended August 31.

Temperatures ranged from the high 50s to mid-60s.

Some of the rain fell around the state.

Easton 1.95 inches, York 1.83 inches, Harrisburg 1.37 inches and Reading 1.05, Warren one-half inch.

Philadelphia registered three inches of rain since Sunday Aug. 26.

PRESIDENT IS CHECKING VITAL DEFENSE BILL

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 28.—(P)—President Roosevelt came to his country home today to check over a vital defense bill and several potential appointments before moving into the south for two Labor Day speeches.

In the appointment line, the President had decided on a successor to James A. Farley as postmaster general before he left Washington yesterday for his Hudson Valley estate.

He confided his choice to Farley, but Farley, who quits the cabinet Saturday for private business, kept the secret.

A meeting of the Roosevelt Home Club, an annual get-together of some of the President's Dutchess county friends and neighbors, usually with some political sideights, will provide a bit of levity Saturday before the chief executive starts for Chattanooga, Tenn., Sunday.

The White House announced Mr. Roosevelt's action, saying the measure was signed last night. Congressional action on the guard legislation finally was completed last week.

Now that the legislation is signed, Mr. Roosevelt may summon the guard to duty at any time. The army High Command, it is reported, has set September 15, tentatively, as the date for mobilization of the first contingent.

That contingent probably will number 55,000 officers and men, but there has been no announcement as to the units from which the men will be drawn. There have been indications, however, that those units probably would be the Thirtieth, Forty-first, Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth.

The September 15 date was agreed upon, some authorities reported, because the army desired to give guardsmen two weeks at home between the end of summer maneuvers and the beginning of the 12-months service period. The last maneuvers end August 31.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—There's been a lot of talk about tin since the national defense program got under way, but if you'll believe Department of Commerce officials, much of the talk is hokey.

There's no doubt that if the United States tin supply were cut off, there would be a fine mess.

But for that to happen, England would have to lose the war, and Japan would have to seize British Malaya and the Dutch East Indies, and blockade our trade with those settlements or refuse to sell us any tin. Further, more, it would have to be proved that Bolivia couldn't step up its tin supply to 50,000 tons. It was almost that high in 1929 but had dropped to a little more than half that by last year. There is the possibility we could cut our consumption to get along on what we could get from Bolivia plus the small amount of tin that could be reclaimed.

Has Caused Wars

TIN is a mighty interesting product. Wars were fought for it long before the Christian era. Julius Caesar's invasion of the British Isles may have been to get to the tin mines in Cornwall. England has been all but controlling the tin supply ever since, although there is practically no more coming out of Cornwall. The tin ore supply (and consequently the smelting) is controlled by an international cartel composed of seven nations. But England so controls the cartel that all meetings to set quotas, prices and export duties are held in London.

The world output of tin is around 183,000 tons. The United States uses about 70,000 tons of it, 45 per cent of that for tin cans and tin linings for canned goods.

The amount that goes into basic defense materials is small.

Prima Donna Of Metals

THERE would be problems, however, even if we should cut using cans and begin to wrap our candies in paper, substitute something for tin roofings and give the kids rag dolls and wooden wagons for Christmas instead of tin soldiers and tin autos.

Tin is the prima donna of all metals. Its purity must run well over 98 per cent if it's any good, and even a tiny fractional upset in the other ingredients and the tin is worthless.

Bolivian tin is low grade and can't be used for everything. There are no smelters to speak of in the United States. Two experimental smelters recently have been opened, but their output is minute. During the World War, American smelters did reach an annual production of 16,000 tons, but the plants were abandoned years ago.

So if we couldn't import Asiatic tin we'd have trouble for a while. But after our own smelters were built, we'd get over the crisis.

Defense Handicap Unlikely

THE day may come when American newlyweds will have to quit eating out of cans, but there is little likelihood that the tin situation will become so acute that we can't turn out bearings and bushings for defense. At least, that's what the men at the commerce department tell me.

Tomorrow: The rubber situation.

County Agent's News

Refresh Pastures by Chipping Old Grass

Many pastures in Warren County still remain unchipped. The grass which has headed out and gone to seed is refused by the cows and is largely trampled under foot, destroyed and wasted. Reopens County Agent O. C. Tritt.

When the matured grass is chipped and allowed to lie where it falls several results are obtained.

First, the cows will eat a large portion of the partially cured grass because they seem to crave some dry hay while on pasture.

Second, the chipping will freshen the pasture by removing the hard, harsh tall grass and will permit new grass and clover to come up from below. Cows particularly like the new tender growth since it is high in palatability and nutritive value.

Third, chipping will reduce the weed problem, especially if the weeds are cut before they mature seeds. This is quite important says Mr. Tritt, because weeds require more moisture and fertility than grass and clover and it is poor farming to grow both weeds and crops on the same land at the same time.

Set the mower to clip as closely as possible, Mr. Tritt directs. The outer bar will help to scatter droppings and will promote more uniform grazing throughout the rest of the season. Since lawns are not allowed to mature seeds but still stay fresh and green, similar treatment of pastures will get like results.

FINISH INITIAL YEAR OF WORK RELIEF PROGRAM

The Relief Work program of the Department of Public Assistance rounded out its first full year of operation this month with a record of 105,376 state relief recipients employed up to August 1; $7,021,110 worth of labor and service furnished to local governments, schools, hospitals and other tax-supported agencies; and the less tangible accomplishments of providing a demonstration of the readiness of the average employable relief recipient to work in return for assistance.

Ten was the average number of relief workers in Warren county in July, working on an average of five projects and receiving $253 in compensation. In the year between August, 1939 and July there were 354 on 19 projects who received a total amount of $11,357.

Starting with an average of 1,612 workers credited with earning $52,380 in assistance grants last August, the scope of the program has increased each successive month, statistics released by the department show, until, in July, 1940, the number of workers averaged 26,843, representing approximately one-fourth of the state's employable general assistance cases. During the same month earnings, credited against relief payments in accordance with prevailing local wage rates, totaled $898,622.

TIMES TOPICS

COURT TOMORROW

Sessions of court will be held here tomorrow and Friday.

APPLY FOR LICENSE

A marriage license application was received yesterday from Benton David Baird and Lola May Hadden, both of this city.

TO HONOR MEMBER

The Dorcas Girls of the First Lutheran church will honor the memory of Mrs. Robert H. Morrison by taking their usual class seats in the church tomorrow afternoon during her funeral services.

HOSPITAL PATIENT

Friends will be glad to know that Miss Gladys Eck, of Tiona, is getting along nicely following an operation for appendicitis in the Warren General Hospital. She is now permitted visitors.

FIFTEEN REGISTER

Fifteen Warren county aliens registered yesterday at the local post office and many others secured their preliminary registration papers. It is estimated that there are approximately 2,000 naturalized citizens in the county.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT

Two cars were slightly damaged last evening at the intersection of Jefferson avenue and Prospect street when one driven by Albert Groesch, 203 Jefferson avenue, and another driven by Fred J. Leonard, 11 Myrtle street collided. None was injured.

G. O. P. HEADQUARTERS

The vacant room at 308 Second avenue, formerly occupied by the Harvey and Carey Co. store, is being prepared for use as headquarters for the Warren County Republican committee. Announcement of plans for opening the office will be made in a few days.

BETTER PAY TAX

Those still owing mercantile taxes are reminded that a penalty of five per cent in most cases and ten per cent in others will be assessed if they are not paid before September 1. Saturday is the last day that the county treasurer can accept payments without additional costs.

FORMERLY OF WARREN

Mrs. Clara Gildersleeve, Market street, received word yesterday that Mrs. Edward D. Freeman, of Washington D. C., who was the former Josephine Smith, of Warren, died at midnight Monday at Montclair, N. J. Funeral services are to be held Friday at 1222 Webster street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Mrs. Freeman has a number of distant relatives in Warren and many friends among the older residents of the community.

COMPLETE PAVING

Work has been completed on the construction of 4.81 miles of road in Crawford county which carries tourists to the dam at Pymatung Lake. The work was done at an expenditure of approximately $150,000. The section, which provides a high type pavement over a road that was dusty in summer and almost impassable in the spring, is used extensively by persons visiting the Pymatung area and especially the spillway between the two lakes. It passes through Espyville and provides a shorter route between the Conneaut Lake area and Andover, Ohio.

TIMES TOPICS

PICK POTTSVILLE

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington, Pa., where the Pennsylvania Elk association is holding its 1940 convention states that Retiring President James G. Bohlender, of Franklin, announced today that the 1941 convention will be held at Pottsville. The association elected Wade K. Newell, of Uniontown, president; Wilbur G. Warner, of Lehigh, vice-president; W. S. Gould, of Scranton, re-elected secretary, and Charles S. Brown, of Pittsburgh, treasurer. T. W. Minehart, of Chambersburg, was named trustee.

POSSE CATCHES BOYS

A posse of police and farmers armed with shotguns, rifles and other weapons last night ran down and captured three boys, alleged perpetrators of a series of burglaries in Meadville. One of the trio, Leonard Geer, of Centerville, was shot in the hand as he tried to escape and was removed to a hospital. The others, Worlo Geer, 16, and Francis Mason, 16, were sent to the Crawford county jail pending the filing of charges. District Attorney Herbert A. Mook said two of the boys were armed with rifles when caught. They ran away from their homes some time ago and had been hiding out.

ATTENDING REUNION

Earl R. Small, Madison avenue, left yesterday by train for Washington, D. C., where he will attend the four-day reunion of the Army and Navy Legion of Valor, meeting in the Willard Hotel August 28-31. The society was organized in Washington 50 years ago and there will be members in attendance from every branch of the service, and from every state in the union, from China and many foreign possessions, all having received the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Distinguished Service Cross and the Navy Cross. This golden anniversary celebration promises to be one of the highlights of the organization's history.

GREENHURST MAN KILLED

Clarence O. Harvey, 62, of Greenhurst, sexton at the Fluvanna cemetery for many years, was instantly killed about 7:30 last night when struck near Point Stockholm on the East Lake Road by a car driven by Chautauqua County Deputy Sheriff Len C. Peterson, of Mayville. Coroner Samuel T. Bowers announced that an inquest will be held. At the time he was struck Harvey was looking for marks on the pavement which might have been made as a result of an accident earlier in the day, involving a truck owned by his brother. Coroner Bowers said Peterson was standing about the middle of the road and two others were on the berm. He said he swung his car to the left but that as he did so, Harvey jumped into the side of the machine.

AMUSEMENTS

AT LIBRARY THEATRE TODAY AND THURSDAY

"The Lady in Question" Have a heart!...and have as hilarious a load of laughs as ever made a romance exciting! Watch "The Lady in Question" teach papa all the answers! The jury found her innocent...well, not too innocent! And papa plays the family when he brings home the beauty just acquitted of slaying! It's delightfully different...refreshingly youthful...unusually romantic...it's "The Lady in Question". The sensational new laugh hit, with its utterly and happily novel and daring situations, opens today at the Library Theatre, with Brian Aherne starred as a kindly old soul who not only voted to acquit Rita Hayworth of murder...but brought her home to his wife.

"The Way of All Flesh" Theatregoers in search of entertainment of a different order should find it in the Paramount drama which is scheduled to open today at the Library Theatre. This picture is "The Way of All Flesh," and features Akim Tamiroff, Gladys George, William Henry and Muriel Angelus. In three distinct cycles the tragedy of one man's life is graphically portrayed. Paul Krass, trusted and respected cashier in a small town bank, a loving husband and fond father, in a weak moment succumbs to temptation, and is responsible for the loss of a fortune in securities entrusted to him by his bank. Believed to be dead, he determines to become a nameless outcast, rather than subject his family to the disgrace which would be inevitable were he to return to them. How he wins eventual regeneration makes for a most unusual and dramatic finale.

DISNEY COLOR CARTOON STARTS TODAY AT 2 P. M. AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

Of the millions of persons throughout the world who see Walt Disney pictures each day, not all realize that the principal reason for their universal appeal is the manner in which Disney endows animals with human foibles. The Great Walt Disney Festival offers admirers a chance to see once again his delightful handling of animals.

This is particularly true of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Disney's first full-length feature, which heads the Festival program. There are rabbits, squirrels, chipmunks, several kinds of birds, tortoises and deer—and not a villain among them. When Snow White becomes lost in the woods and breaks down with fright, the little animals approach her timidly and befriend her, leading her to the safety of the dwarfs' home.

It is the animals, too, who discover that the old hag who visits Snow White in the cottage is really the wicked queen in disguise. And it is they who warn the dwarfs, who leap on the animals' backs and give chase to this picturesque menace and drive her to destruction.

Work has been completed on the construction of 4.81 miles of road in Crawford county which carries tourists to the dam at Pymatuning Lake. The work was done at an expenditure of approximately $150,000. The section, which provides a high type pavement over a road that was dusty in summer and almost impassable in the spring, is used extensively by persons visiting the Pymatuning area and especially the spillway between the two lakes. It passes through Espsville and provides a shorter route between the Conneaut Lake area and Andover, Ohio.

AMUSEMENTS

AT LIBRARY THEATRE TODAY AND THURSDAY

"The Lady in Question"
Have a heart!...and have as hilarious a load of laughs as ever made a romance exciting! Watch "The Lady in Question" teach papa all the answers! The jury found her innocent...well, not too innocent! And papa slays the family when he brings home the beauty just acquitted of slaying! It's delightfully different...refreshingly youthful...incurably romantic...which is another way of saying...it's "The Lady in Question!" The sensational new laugh hit, with its utterly and happily novel and daring situations, opens today at the Library Theatre, with Brian Aherne starred as a kindly old soul who not only voted to acquit Rita Hayworth of murder...but brought her home to his wife!

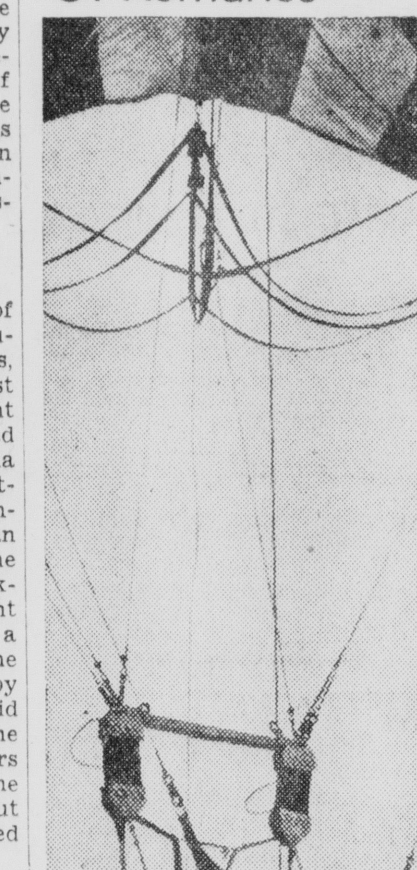

"The Way of All Flesh"
Theatregoers in search of entertainment of a different order should find it in the Paramount drama which is scheduled to open today at the Library Theatre. This picture is "The Way of All Flesh," and features Akim Tamiroff, Gladys George, William Henry and Muriel Angelus. In three distinct cycles the tragedy of one man's life is graphically portrayed, Paul Kriza, trusted and respected cashier in a small town bank, a loving husband and fond father, in a weak moment succumbs to temptation, and is responsible for the loss of a fortune in securities entrusted to him by his bank. Believed to be dead, he determines to become a nameless outcast, rather than subject his family to the disgrace which would be inevitable were he to return to them. How he wins eventual regeneration makes for a most unusual and dramatic finale.

DISNEY COLOR CARTOON
STARTS TODAY AT 2 P. M.
AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

Of the millions of persons throughout the world who see Walt Disney pictures each day, not all realize that the principal reason for their universal appeal is the manner in which Disney endows animals with human foibles. The Great Walt Disney Festival offers admirers a chance to see once again his delightful handling of animals.

This is particularly true of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Disney's first full-length feature, which heads the Festival program. There are rabbits, squirrels, chipmunks, several kinds of birds, tortoises and deer—and not a villain among them. When Snow White becomes lost in the woods and breaks down with fright, the little animals approach her timidly and befriend her, leading her to the safety of the dwarfs' home. It is the animals, too, who discover that the old hag who visits Snow White in the cottage is really the wicked queen in disguise. And it is they who warn the dwarfs, who leap on the animals' backs and give chase to this picturesque menace and drive her to destruction.

County Agent's News

Refresh Pastures by Clipping Old Grass

Many pastures in Warren County still remain unclipped. The grass which has headed out and gone to seed is refused by the cows and is largely trampled under foot, destroyed and wasted, reminds County Agent O. C. Tritt.

When the matured grass is clipped and allowed to lie where it falls several results are obtained. First, the cows will eat a large portion of the partially cured grass because they seem to crave some dry hay while on pasture.

Second, the clipping will freshen the pasture by removing the hard, harsh tall grass and will permit new grass and clover to come up from below. Cows particularly like the new tender growth since it is high in palatability and nutritive value.

Third, clipping will reduce the weed problem, especially if the weeds are cut before they mature seeds. This is quite important says Mr. Tritt, because weeds require more moisture and fertility than grass and clover and it is poor farming to grow both weeds and crops on the same land at the same time.

Set the mower to clip as closely as possible, Mr. Tritt directs. The cutter-bar will help to scatter droppings and will promote more uniform grazing throughout the rest of the season. Since lawns are not allowed to mature seeds but still stay fresh and green, similar treatment of pastures will get like results.

AMERICA'S FIRST SUPER-HIGHWAY

Pointing a finger of four-lane, divided roadway toward the horizon of tomorrow, the stretch of modern, super-highway shown above typifies the 160-mile Pennsylvania Turnpike that will soon be opened to America's motoring public. The Keystone State's "Dream Road" will be previewed August 26 by cabinet members, senators, congressmen, federal administrators, governors, mayors, industrialists, economists, highway engineers, military experts, businessmen, the press and radio. A motorcade will transport the distinguished visitors over the entire route between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh. It will be "Walter Jones Day" on the Turnpike and Walter A. Jones, pictured above, Turnpike Commission chairman, will be host. It is the first completely adequate master U. S. motorway. Commercial and tourist traffic from East or Mid-West is given its first major, safety-plus trunkline. Military authorities look upon it as a great asset to motorized national defense. The highway research of a quarter century is built into the Turnpike. As America's first super-highway builder, Walter Jones wins a coveted place in the highway hall of fame.

WEATHER GUESS

Weather forecast for the period Aug. 28 to Aug. 31 inclusive:

North and middle Atlantic States—Rain Wednesday and Thursday and possibly in the north Atlantic states on Friday. Generally fair with rising temperature on Saturday. Rising temperature in interior of middle Atlantic states Friday.

Great Lakes: Occasional rain, mostly moderate in amount; temperature averaging below normal.

COLUMBIAN SQUIRES

Columbian Squires candidates are asked to report at the Knights of Columbus rooms, third floor, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

TAKING UP WORK

Ernest William Russell, who has been spending the summer with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Ivan E. Russell, at Sherfield, has returned to Nassau, N. Y., to prepare for his work as supervisor of music in the Greenbush consolidated school district.

TO DISCUSS CAMPAIGN

Members of the Democratic state committee, the campaign committee and county leaders will meet in Harrisburg on September 5 to discuss campaign plans. State Chairman Meredith Meyers and Campaign Manager Luther Hart will be among the speakers.

HEADS CREDIT MEN

At the convention of the Associated Credit Bureaus Association held in Erie, Sumner Bossler, of Bethlehem, was elected president. Other officers are Earle E. Bacon, of Sharon, vice-president; Mary Forelich, of York, secretary, and C. G. Burke, Williamsport, treasurer.

CHANGE IN FORECAST

Attention of readers is called to the fact that the Associated Press has changed the schedule for weather forecasts. Instead of furnishing predictions each Saturday for the following week, they are now filed both on Saturday and Wednesday, to cover a period of four days each.

SPECIAL K. OF C. MEETING

An unusual meeting of the Warren Council, Knights of Columbus, is called for tomorrow evening at eight o'clock in the club rooms. This meeting is out of the ordinary, in that it is called by the district deputy of this district, and every member is asked to be on hand.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

Weather permitting, the V. F. W. band will present its best program of the summer series tonight at seven o'clock on the Bealy School lawn. The band's regular program will include the familiar and always popular number, "Poet and Peasant Overture" as well as "Moder Svea," a collection of Swedish songs and dances. Byron Swanson, director of the Russell school band, will be guest conductor for "Twain Stars" which includes a trumpet duet played by Arthur Lindell and Harold Branstrom, members of the Russell High School band. Harold Gustafson, of Jamestown, former national high school trumpeter and now musical director of the Warren Salvation Army band, is a soloist.

LIONS DISCUSS PLANS FOR YEAR

A discussion of plans for the coming year occupied Tuesday's meeting of the Lions Club, the first session of the fall season, held at the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

New officers were in charge for the first time and a past president's button was presented to Don Curtis, retiring head of the club.

Announcement was made of the transfer of Arthur Kirby to Erie and his place as a director of the club was filled by unanimous election of Guy McKinley.

The annual "Daisy Sale" for the benefit of the blind was postponed for several weeks in order that the public may become better acquainted with the work through a series of articles which will appear in these columns in the next two weeks.

Still Continuing Efforts to Secure A Munitions Plant

Secretary H. W. Correll stated today that the Warren Chamber of Commerce is continuing its efforts to secure a munition plant for this locality and has sent full description of suitable sites to the British Purchasing Council in New York City inasmuch as it has been hinted that England is seriously considering the location of plants in the Eastern States in the immediate future.

Mr. Correll said although the local Chamber has been informed that the U. S. War Department regards Warren as being in a "danger zone" so far as the location of munition plants is concerned, the matter is being hotly contested in governmental circles, where it is argued that Pennsylvania, with its established industries and industrial workers is the logical place for additional factories to produce defense material. Under the circumstances a change of opinion may be brought about under which Warren would again be a likely prospect for consideration by the War Department.

In addition to having sent complete and extremely detailed information to a representative of the War Department several months ago, the secretary of the Warren Chamber today sent duplicates of the information to three officers of governmental departments in Pittsburgh, who indicated to him last week that they frequently receive inquiries for industrial sites from companies with which war-material orders are placed.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT WARREN GENERAL HOSPITAL

Behind the scenes and "below deck" in every good hospital today is a "small army" of men and women who make their living by contributing their part in service to the care which is provided for every patient, whatever his means. They are the "hospital personnel."

They are the women of the dietetic department, the housekeeping organization, the sewing room. They are the technical assistants of the X-ray and therapy divisions and of the pathological departments. They are the women of the credit and admitting departments.

They are the men of the engineering crew who keep up steam to maintain a constant temperature. They are the orderlies and the men-of-all-work who keep the hospital shipshape.

These men and women the patient seldom sees. They move about their appointed tasks as a part of a smoothly operated organization built up around the care of the patient in the hospital bed. Their work supplements the doctor, the resident physicians and the nurses.

These men and women are not automatons. They are intensely human in their responses to the demands made upon them. Many of them have been employed at the hospital for years. They realize that it is a special type of work which they carry on.

Excluding doctors, instructors, nurses and resident physicians, there are 38 employees at Warren General Hospital. In point of service, Claude Feino, is the oldest employee at the hospital, having been employed there for 22 years. Four other employees have been employed twenty or more years; 5 employees fifteen or more years; 11 employees ten or more years; 17 employees five or more years and only 1 one employee less than five years.

A hospital's role is humane, granted; but don't forget it is human as well, being manned by human beings who have desires, ambitions and ideas. They are part of the essential spirit of Warren General Hospital.

Enforcement of a plan for the systematic marketing of the products of farms throughout northwestern Pennsylvania marked a gathering of a representative group of farmers Monday night at a dinner meeting in Erie sponsored by the Pennsylvania Chain Store Council. The council is an organization consisting of some 25 chain store companies doing business in the state and for a number of years has operated successfully in the marketing of Pennsylvania potatoes through the state potato growers' association. Farmers of Erie, Crawford, Warren and Venango counties were in attendance at the Erie meeting.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY: In town Constance meets Ellen Mackelvey who runs a dairy farm. Constance drives back to the ranch with Pedro Taylor, wondering how to cope with such a friendly enemy.

Chapter 12
Barbecue

FROM boxes the delighted Dolores brought riding breeches of twill; boots and sombrero; and a silk shirt of sapphire blue with a golden yellow kerchief for her throat.

"El Cabrillo colors," Dolores explained.

Constance tried to stifle her thoroughly feminine love of clothes. Was Pedro trying to put her so deeply in his favor that she would agree to sell?

But when she was dressed, she whirled before the mirror and was pleased with what she saw. Meg had gauged her measurements accurately; even the boots fit smoothly.

"I look like a colored poster in front of a dime theater," she laughed, and went out to find Pedro Taylor waiting for her.

"Muchisimas gracias," she sang out, and bowed low before Pedro.

"My word, the gal speaks Spanish," chuckled Pedro. "Now turn around and look at Pancho. He's waiting a word of approval."

Constance caught her lower lip between her teeth as Juliano, festively attired, appeared around the corner of the house leading a beautiful palomino, his coat pale golden tan, his main and tail a creamy white.

"Pancho the beautiful," cried Constance and ran toward the horse, unaware of the cries of warning from Juliano, Taylor and a few guests who were drawing near.

"Madre de Dios," murmured Juliano fervently, as Pancho, after one startled, head-tossing neigh and swift baring of teeth, dropped his head to nuzzle the sapphire blue shoulder.

And—"Holy mackerel," sighed Pedro, who had sprung across the path, white of face.

"That settles it," announced Mrs. Mackelvey. "The girl may be a throwback, but she's a Cabrillo as well."

Constance looked up from her caressing of Pancho, to find—"I'm polygot—no, Juliana, don't hold him, I can mount, now watch—"

Pancho made a full swing, but Constance had one foot in the stirrup and by the time he was around she was seated, flushed, laughing, then sobered by the look on Pedro's face.

"Cabrillo," he agreed, and Meg, who had been in the background, anxiously addressing her patron saint, murmured, "That needn't make you a piebald mule."

For a moment the two stared angrily at each other. "Tirry to remember," burred Meg, "that history teaches us the Irish are half Spanish; remember the Moors with their high, fine stepping horses brought us a lot of horse flesh. And above all, Peter me lad, don't be a jackass."

Pedro grinned and finding his horse, mounted and rode up to Constance.

"We'll wait for introductions until we reach the grove," he told Constance. "I think the cavalier's ready. You, as a Cabrillo, should lead the parade alone, but I'm not trusting you. You're quite apt to lead us to Maria's."

They rode up and behind them some seventy-five neighbors fell in.

Constance pulled up on a hill and looked about her. Never had she seen such sunshine, such a blue sky, such gold-and-purple hills.

"Pedro," she laughed, "I could love you for planning this—"

"Don't, Michael," he returned, soberly. "Don't say that. I can't spend the rest of my life eating barbecued beef."

"Would you, Pedro?" she teased.

"I am afraid—" he stressed the word and she remembered the night of their first meeting, "that I would."

"For the sake of your digestion," she sparred, "I will draw the statement out of you. Pedro, is that the grove down there?"

Kinship

IT WAS the grove. Live oak shaded it, though the sun was merely golden and not warm. Scented smoke arose from it, and men in white aprons and caps moved about tables spread under the trees, tables heaped with baskets of bread and platters of salads; gay confectios and tall bottles of wine.

Constance met her neighbors. She was warned by their reception. She found kinship with these leather-face men and sunburned women. But she wondered at the girls of her age and younger. They didn't like her. They were affable, a few were sincerely glad to meet her, but there were others who looked at her with hostile eyes.

And then she understood and a chill touched her happiness for the moment. She was only one of a dozen who knew the fascination of young Pedro Taylor.

But no chill could have with Pedro on one side and Mrs. Mackelvey on the other, and Meg who had come ponderously up on a horse built upon her own lines, hovering in the background.

Constance sat at the head of the table, as the first Don Cabrillo had sat in the early days, dispensing hospitality. In the little arena beyond the grove, she watched the bull-dogging contests, the roping and outlaw riding, and she, the Cabrillo, handed out the awards.

Pedro didn't compete. "He can outstride and outstep any man here," and he's too good a sportsman to show them up."

The day ended all too soon. Gray fog came up to peer over the rim of the coast range, and the party mounted.

Constance rode with her neighbors. Somewhere behind her, Pedro was riding with a fluffy-haired little blond girl who plainly adored him, and just in front of him a red haired girl, dashing, bold, thought Constance, was darning him to race.

Pedro accepted the dare. Stiffly, holding Pancho in with all of her strength, Constance watched the race, contemptuous and a little angry, while Pedro, "made a fool of himself," she thought. Didn't he know that girl wanted him to catch the reins of her horse and draw her close, couldn't he see?

If course!

Mrs. Mackelvey rode up. "Why don't you come on home with me now," she suggested. "Pancho's fresh. We can take a short cut and be there in an hour."

Constance welcomed this chance. She said goodbye to her guests at crossroads, and conscious of Peter sitting motionless on his horse watching her, rode away with Mrs. Mackelvey.

Once she looked back. Peter had wheeled away from the girl with the red hair and was riding back to El Cabrillo alone. Constance wondered why she felt so triumphant. Pedro really meant nothing to her . . . permanently.

Solid Shoulder

THE Mackelvey ranch lay behind the first range of mountains, and was free of heavy fog. Constance's first impression was of pristine neatness: of acres confined to proper sections by white fences; of white barns set precisely in their lots. Even the cows gave the impression of impeccable gray are groomed."

Mrs. Mackelvey affirmed, "They are washed and brushed before each milking."

It was milking time, and Constance was led through vast white caverns with spotlessly clean cement floors. No picturesque stables; the milkers were electric, operated by remote control in the hands of one man. And the milk traveled by tube to a pipe which ran through the barns to a depot, where it poured into cans on wheeled flats, to be rolled to waiting trucks.

"It's all so efficiently handled," Constance marveled.

"Efficiency and economy are synonymous," Mrs. Mackelvey assured her. "I learned that through costly experience. Here are the workmen's homes; rather nice, don't you think? I let the hired men live in the homes they occupy. They have free rein with their gardens."

"Another thing I learned," she mused, "is that contented wives mean contented workmen, and contented workmen are efficient."

And Constance, looking at a lured pink bungalow with blue shutters, saw nothing to forewarn her of future trouble.

Mrs. Mackelvey's preciseness stopped at her own front gate. A wild, old-fashioned garden sprawled from fence to steps, only a few marigolds and crystalhemus holding out against the encroaching winter.

The house was roomy, cheerful with light paint and flowered chintz. The living room was lived in, books everywhere, a grand piano heaped with dog-eared music.

Tea was served before a roaring hearth fire and afterwards, when the shadows grew thick, the talk drifted to personal things.

"But with the responsibility of this ranch, one might call it an enterprise, on your shoulders, don't you ever feel the need for something to lean upon?" asked Constance.

"Mrs. Mackelvey shot her a quick whimsical glance. "I know that feeling," she admitted. "My parents were touched with the gypsy's wand, happy-go-lucky musicians. I married for security. I married a rancher. Perversely, Jack was no more dependable than any other man . . . ah, but the land. I found in it the warm, solid shoulder I needed."

Constance slept on this thought. She would lean on El Cabrillo.

She awoke refreshed, and on a daylight tour of the dairy ranch, put the questions to Mrs. Mackelvey as one business woman to another.

When she started home, mid-morning, she felt able to conquer the world. Michael had raised no ones. She would too, and then—Pancho's here!" she patted the satin shoulder. "We'll show them what a throwback can do."

Pancho to looked a skeptical ear.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

The Founders of the American Republic were wise and farsighted men. Out of their own bitter experience they built a system of government, limited in powers, under which men might live and work and grow because they were free.

The wisdom of the Founding Fathers was great, but it was by no means superhuman. Their foresight provided many safeguards for liberty in a changing world, they balanced power against power, and left the final judgment where it belongs, with the people themselves; but what they failed to take into consideration was the fact that the people, grown too used to freedom, might come to take their liberty for granted, that men could ever be too busy or too careless to exercise their hard-won rights.

Under the American system the ballot is the free expression of the will of the individual. It is the duty of every citizen to vote, and it is his responsibility to inform himself upon the issues so that he may vote wisely.

The American system was designed for the individual and must be protected by the individual.

In Pennsylvania, in order to vote, the individual must be registered. No one can vote for anyone at any time, for any reason, unless he is properly registered. This applies to general elections as well as to primaries. The qualifications are simple. You must be twenty-one years of age, a citizen of the United States, a resident of Pennsylvania and of the precinct in which you vote.

If you are uncertain whether or not you are registered, if you will be twenty-one on or before November 5th, if you have moved since the last election, or if you have not voted for two years, go to the Permanent Registration Office in the Court House before October 5th and make sure that you are properly enrolled.

This year the Republican women of the county, under the leadership of Miss Nellie Lounsbury, Vice-Chairman of the County Committee, are sponsoring a drive to register all Republican voters.

On Friday, September 6th, a meeting for these women workers and all other voters who are interested will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall at Youngsville. Arrangements are being made to bring a prominent speaker to this meeting and those in charge are confident that there will be a large enthusiastic audience. The Republicans of Warren County must vote and in order to vote, they must be registered. Every American citizen has this responsibility.

DEMOCRAT

(From Labor)

"One of the blackest spots on the utility map."

That's how the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers this week branded the Alabama Power Company, a unit of the Commonwealth and Southern, huge utility holding corporation headed by Wendell L. Willkie before he became Republican nominee for the Presidency.

For years, the Brotherhood has been battling against ruthless anti-labor activities of the Alabama Power management. It carried the fight to the National Labor Relations Board and won a decision outlawing the utility's "company union" and ordering the repayment to employees of nearly $10,000 in dues checked off for the "dummy."

So far, the company has failed to make the refunds, and the Brotherhood local on the property has demanded the board launch enforcement proceedings in the courts.

Whether or not Willkie is at fault for the condition is beside the question," said the Brotherhood. "Undoubtedly, if he is interested in labor at all, he might very easily rectify the deplorable situation on this power system."

"The battle for labor recognition has been raging for about six years. It has run the gauntlet of every device conceived by labor-hating bosses to destroy all semblance of democracy."

"Company unionism has been rampant, the Labor Relations Act has been ignored, and plugugies have incited riotous conditions to discredit union affiliation."

Union members have been beaten up and company spies have been used to put fear into the workers. Brotherhood representatives added. Despite all these brutal tactics, the Brotherhood predicted it will win out in the end.

Writing of the Republican nomination of Wendell Willkie for President, the strongly Republican Times-Star of Cincinnati, Ohio says: "The party made a choice that perhaps seemed a glittering one at the time, but which may turn out to be not so glittering under the test of the months and the years that are to come."

FIRST REUNION OF SHEFFIELD REBEKAH LODGE

Sheffield, Aug. 27—The first reunion of members of former Catherine Rebekah Lodge, for years prior to its dissolution a decade ago the town's largest and most active fraternal organization, was a successful and enjoyable event.

Held Saturday evening in the American Legion Home, the reunion attracted an attendance of half a hundred members and friends from Jamestown, Warren, Tidoute, Erie, Barnes and Sheffield, and brought about pleasant acquaintanceships, some of whom had not seen each other since as long ago as 1913.

The event was centered around a picnic dinner, which was served about 6.30 o'clock, at tables which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion in the lodge's colors, pink and green. Centerpieces were vases of gladioli.

Music during the dinner hour was played by Mrs. Harry Mickel, pianist, who also played the accompaniment for group singing of favorite old songs which took place immediately after the meal. Square dancing followed to complete the enjoyable get-together.

During the course of the evening those present voiced their approval of the reunion by voting to make it an annual affair. The second Saturday in September, 1941, was the date chosen for the next reunion, which will be held in Legion Home.

Officers elected were: President Mrs. O. M. Borden, vice president Roe Painsworth; secretary, Mrs. Earl Andrews; treasurer, Mrs. Earl McCaskey.

Saturday's inaugural reunion was conceived and arranged by a committee that included Mrs. Borden, chairman; Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Isabelle Rice Bentley, Mrs. Edith Slack and O. M. Borden.

The committee highly appreciates the cooperation it received in its enterprising and successful venture and, through this medium, publicly thanks Mrs. Mickel and all the other persons who aided them.

FIREMEN MEET

The August meeting of the Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department was held last evening in the township building, Frances L. Borden, president, presiding. Among decisions reached during the session, which was confined largely to routine matters, was one to attend the firemen's celebration in Ridgway this Saturday.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox and family are visiting relatives and friends in Detroit. William Knapp is managing Mr. Cox's barber shop during Bob's absence.

Frank Wallon has returned to Detroit, where he is employed, after having spent several days visiting his folks here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rawson, Sheffield Pharmacy owners, are vacationing in the east.

Youngsville News

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bidwell and family are leaving Saturday for their new home in Newport, R. I., where Mr. Bidwell has a position as a skilled mechanic in the naval torpedo station. He has been employed for several years at the National Forge and his many friends are sorry to have them leave town. They have been living on West Main street extension.

BRIEFS

Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Reed were weekend guests at Chautauqua. In their absence Paul Getts had charge of the Methodist morning church service bringing a fine and timely message. A duet was sung by Miss Ann Burrows and Dorothy Nyquist at this service.

Mr. and Mrs. Fessler Haller, of Middlebury, Vt., were guests for two days last week of their aunt, Mrs. T. H. Russell.

Even the cows gave the impression of impeccable grooming.

"They are groomed," Mrs. MacKelvey affirmed. "They are washed and brushed before each milking."

It was milking time, and Constance was led through vast white pastures with spotlessly clean cement floors. No picturesque milkers squatted on three-legged stools; the milkers were electric, operated by remote control in the hands of one man. And the milk traveled by tube to a pipe which ran through the barns to a depot, where it poured into cans on wheeled flats, to be rolled to waiting trucks.

"It's all so efficiently handled," Constance marveled.

"Efficiency and economy are synonymous," Mrs. MacKelvey assured her. "I learned that through costly experience. Here are the workmen's homes; rather nice, don't you think? I let the wives plan the homes they were to occupy. They have free rein with their gardens."

"Another thing I learned," she mused, "is that contented wives mean contented workmen, and contented workmen are efficient."

And Constance, looking at a lurid pink bungalow with blue shutters, saw nothing to forewarn her of future trouble.

Mrs. MacKelvey's preciseness stopped at her own front gate. A wild, old-fashioned garden sprawled from fence to steps, only a few marigolds and crystalline mums holding out against the encroaching winter.

The house was roomy, cheerful with light paint and flowered chintz. The living room was lived in, books everywhere, a grand piano heaped with dog-eared music.

Tea was served before a roaring hearth fire and afterwards, when the shadows grew thick, the talk drifted to personal things.

"But with the responsibility of this ranch, one might call it an enterprise, on your shoulders, don't you ever feel the need for something to lean upon?" asked Constance.

"Mrs. MacKelvey shot her a quick whimsical glance. "I know that feeling," she admitted. "My parents were touched with the gypsy's wand, happy-go-lucky musicians. I married for security. I married a rancher. Perversely, Jack was no more dependable than any other man . . . ah, but the land, I found in it the warm, solid shoulder I needed."

Constance slept on this thought. She awoke refreshed, and on a daylight tour of the dairy ranch, put the questions to Mrs. MacKelvey as one business woman to another.

When she started home, mid-morning, she felt able to conquer the world. Michael had raised money. She would too, and then— "Pancho, honey," she patted the satin shoulder, "we'll show them what a throwback can do."

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

The Founders of the American Republic were wise and farsighted men. Out of their own bitter experience they built a system of government, limited in powers, under which men might live and work and grow because they were free.

The wisdom of the Founding Fathers was great, but it was by no means superhuman. Their foresight provided many safeguards for liberty in a changing world; they balanced power against power and left the final judgment where it belongs, with the people themselves; but what they failed to take into consideration was the fact that the people, grown too used to freedom, might come to take their liberty for granted, that men could ever be too busy or too careless to exercise their hard-won rights.

Under the American system the ballot is the free expression of the will of the individual. It is the duty of every citizen to vote, and it is his responsibility to inform himself upon the issues so that he may vote wisely. The American system was designed for the individual and must be protected by the individual.

In Pennsylvania, in order to vote, the individual must be registered. No one can vote for anyone, at any time, for any reason, unless he is properly registered. This applies to general elections as well as to primaries. The qualifications are simple. You must be twenty-one years of age, a citizen of the United States, a resident of Pennsylvania and of the precinct in which you vote.

If you are uncertain whether or not you are registered, if you will be twenty-one on or before November 5th, if you have moved since the last election, or if you have not voted for two years, go to the Permanent Registration Office in the Court House before October 5th and make sure that you are properly enrolled.

This year the Republican women of the county, under the leadership of Miss Nellie Lounsbury, Vice-Chairman of the County Committee, are sponsoring a drive to register all Republican voters. On Friday, September 6th, a meeting for these women workers and all other voters who are interested will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall at Youngsville. Arrangements are being made to bring a prominent speaker to this meeting and those in charge are confident that there will be a large enthusiastic audience. The Republicans of Warren County must vote and in order to vote, they must be registered. Every American citizen has this responsibility.

DEMOCRAT

(From Labor)

"One of the blackest spots on the utility map."

That's how the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers this week branded the Alabama Power Company, a unit of the Commonwealth and Southern, huge utility holding corporation headed by Wendell L. Willkie before he became Republican nominee for the Presidency.

For years, the Brotherhood has been battling against ruthless anti-labor activities of the Alabama Power management. It carried the fight to the National Labor Relations Board and won a decision outlawing the utility's "company union" and ordering the repayment to employees of nearly $10,000 in dues checked off for the "dummy."

So far, the company has failed to make the refunds, and the Brotherhood local on the property has demanded the board launch enforcement proceedings in the courts.

"Whether or not Willkie is at fault for the condition is beside the question," said the Brotherhood. "Undoubtedly, if he is interested in labor at all, he might very easily rectify the deplorable situation on this power system."

"The battle for labor recognition has been raging for about six years. It has run the gauntlet of every device conceived by labor-hating bosses to destroy all semblance of democracy."

"Company unionism has been rampant, the Labor Relations Act has been ignored, and plugulugies have incited riotous conditions to discredit union affiliation."

Union members have been beaten up and company spies have been used to put fear into the workers. Brotherhood representatives added. Despite all these brutal tactics, the Brotherhood predicted it will win out in the end.

Writing of the Republican nomination of Wendell Willkie for President, the strongly Republican Times-Star of Cincinnati, Ohio says: "The party made a choice that perhaps seemed a glittering one at the time, but which may turn out to be not so glittering under the test of the months and the years that are to come."

FIRST REUNION OF SHEFFIELD REBEKAH LODGE

Sheffield, Aug. 27—The first reunion of members of former Catherine Rebekah Lodge, for years prior to its dissolution a decade ago the town's largest and most active fraternal organization, was a successful and enjoyable event.

Held Saturday evening in the American Legion Home, the reunion attracted an attendance of half a hundred members and friends from Jamestown, Warren, Tidoute, Erie, Barnes and Sheffield, and brought about pleasant acquaintanceships, some of whom had not seen each other since as long ago as 1913.

The event was centered around a picnic dinner, which was served about 6:30 o'clock, at tables which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion in the lodge's colors—pink and green. Centerpieces were vases of gladiolus.

Music during the dinner hour was played by Mrs. Harry Mickel, pianist, who also played the accompaniment for group singing of favorite old songs which took place immediately after the meal. Square dancing followed to complete the enjoyable get-together.

During the course of the evening those present voiced their approval of the reunion by voting to make it an annual affair. The second Saturday in September, 1941, was the date chosen for the next reunion, which will be held in Legion Home.

Officers elected were: President, Mrs. O. M. Borden; vice president, Roe Farnsworth; secretary, Mrs. Earl Andrews; treasurer, Mrs. Earl McCaskey.

Saturday's inaugural reunion was conceived and arranged by a committee that included Mrs. Borden, chairman; Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Isabelle Rice Bentley, Mrs. Edith Slack and O. M. Borden.

The committee highly appreciates the cooperation it received in its enterprising and successful venture and, through this medium, publicly thanks Mrs. Mickel and all the other persons who aided them.

FIREMEN MEET

The August meeting of the Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department was held last evening in the township building, Frances L. Borden, president, presiding. Among decisions reached during the session, which was confined largely to routine matters, was one to attend the firemen's celebration in Ridgway this Saturday.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox and family are visiting relatives and friends in Detroit. William Knapp is managing Mr. Cox's barber shop during Bob's absence.

Frank Wallon has returned to Detroit, where he is employed, after having spent several days visiting his folks here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rawson, Sheffield Pharmacy owners, are vacationing in the east.

Youngsville News

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bidwell and family are leaving Saturday for their new home in Newport, R. I., where Mr. Bidwell has a position as a skilled mechanic in the naval torpedo station. He has been employed for several years at the National Forge and his many friends are sorry to have them leave town. They have been living on West Main street extension.

BRIEFS

Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Reed were weekend guests at Chautauqua. In their absence Paul Getts had charge of the Methodist morning church service bringing a fine and timely message. A duet was sung by Miss Ann Burrows and Dorothy Nyquist at this service.

Mr. and Mrs. Fessler Haller, of Middlebury, Vt., were guests for two days last week of their aunt, Mrs. T. H. Russell.

PATTERN 4542

When leaves begin to fall and the air turns brisk, it's back to trim, tailored wool dresses! Anne Adams has designed Pattern 4542 as a perfect "first autumn dress." Highlights of fashion are those pointed side-front bodice sections that give a molded, long-waisted look. The skirt is nicely flared; the narrow bodice panel forms one easy piece with the center-front skirt panel. Other youthful touches are a back buttoning, a trim little collar that may contrast, and an optional ribbon-bow and button trim. You may choose between long, three-quarter and short sleeves. Here's a novel idea: let the side bodice sections and the sleeves be in gay contrast!

Pattern 4542 is available in junior miss sizes 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18. Size 13 takes 2 1/2 yards 54-inch fabric.

Give Dinner Parties For Jane MacDonald

Miss Ollie McNamara, Union street, gave a beautifully appointed dinner party and personal shower at the Hotel Carver last evening to compliment Miss Jane MacDonald, who is to be the bride of Myron Check on September 12.

Summer flowers centered the table artistically and the honored guest found a lovely corsage at her place.

Guests were Mrs. Edward Check, Mrs. Hazel Merenick, Mrs. Bertha Lyons, Mrs. Hazel Sarvis, Miss Kay Moore, Mrs. Maybelle Walsh, Mrs. Ethel Baldensperger, Miss Katherine Pool, Miss Helen and Miss Mildred Maher, Mrs. Sue McClure, Mrs. Mary Corn, Warren; Mrs. J. W. Campbell, Tulsa, Okla.

On Monday evening, Miss Kay Moore gave a dinner party and personal shower at the Y. W. C. A. activities building to honor the bride-to-be.

Margaret Sluyter Is Shower Party Guest

Miss Margaret Sluyter, of North Warren, who will become the bride of Arland Briggs, of New York City, on September 7, was the guest of honor at a lovely linen shower last evening, given by Mrs. M. L. Hamilton, Mrs. L. R. Hamilton, of North Warren, and Mrs. Raymond Ledebur, Warren. The affair took place at the Ledebur home, 1915 Pennsylvania avenue, east.

After an evening of games, a delicious two course luncheon was served, with dainty table appointments in pink and white. Zinnias and cosmos formed the centerpiece.

The bride-to-be was presented with beautiful linens from the Misses Mary Ann Geitner, Constance Dey, Harriett Thayer, Ida Lauffer, Eleanor Snarburg, Jane Myers, Dorothy Hood, June Landers, Helen Fultz, Verma Myers, Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. George Cowden, Mrs. N. A. Carpenter and the hostesses.

Gail Heard Honored With Shower Party

Miss Gail Heard, bride of Saturday, was honored last evening at a dinner party given at the G. B. Monroe home, 12 North Irvine street, by the Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the Holy Redeemer church.

Table appointments were carried out in blue and white, and an attractive centerpiece was a miniature bride and groom placed on a glass reflector, which had been covered with rice.

The evening was pleasantly spent in enjoyment of moving pictures and Miss Heard, who is to be the bride of Allen Keefe, was presented with a beautiful gift for her new home.

Those present were Agnes, Peggy and Kay Monroe, Mary Rich, Genevieve O'Brien, Mary Jermain, Helen Massa, Sally Ortolio, Stella Cerra, Helen Cerra, Bertha Minelli, Angeline Cerra, Victoria Rich, Josephine Massa, Laura Platerote, Margaret Scallise.

Warren - Kanengeiser Engagement Is Told

Miss Rebecca Warren, Market street, entertained with a luncheon at her home Tuesday to honor Miss Elizabeth Yerg, who will become the bride of Robert Capell in October.

During the afternoon, the hostess announced her engagement to James Kanengeiser, but did not set a date for the wedding.

Miss Warren is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Warren, and was graduated from Oberlin College, Oberlin, O., in June of this year.

Mr. Kanengeiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kanengeiser, of New Castle, attended Clarion State Teachers College and is now employed at the National Forge and Ordnance plant at Irvine.

Farewell Events To Honor Mrs. Jacobsen

Mrs. Bertram J. McGessly was hostess last evening at her home, 306 Mohawk avenue, at a party which honored Mrs. Gerhard Jacobsen, who is leaving soon to make her home in Hamburg, N. Y.

Bridge formed the evening's diversion, with prizes going to Miss Kathryn Martin for high score and to Mrs. Guy Swanson for consolation.

Late in the evening a delicious luncheon was served.

Mrs. Jacobsen, who is the former Mary Louise Branch, is being complimented with another farewell party on Thursday evening, to be given by a group of friends at Levan's in Jamestown.

The Cole family reunion next year will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Cole, in Warren on the fourth Saturday in August, instead of the fourth Sunday, as previously announced.

BUSH FAMILY
The fourth annual reunion of the Bush family was held August 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bush, Tidouche, with 53 relatives and friends present to partake of the bounteous chicken dinner. The day was spent with visiting and enjoyment of music provided by John Elderkin, of Grand Valley; S. M. Wilder and Charles Lubold, of Salamanca, N. Y.; William Proper, New City; Mearl Sutton, Titusville. Two of the violins used by the musicians were designed and made by Jacob Seber, of Titusville.

The youngest person present was Ronald Seilen, aged six months, and the oldest was "Aunt" Annie Boughton, who celebrated her 82d birthday by attending the reunion. The following officers were re-elected: President, Charles Bush; secretary-treasurer, Nellie Shavley; entertainment committee, Anna Myers, Marie Bush and William Proper. The next reunion will be held the last Sunday in August, 1941, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bush at Klondike.

TO THE FAIR
Mr. and Mrs. Calvin E. Barwis, of Glens Falls, N. Y., who have been visiting their families here, are spending a few days at the New York fair. They were accompanied by John and Richard Guild, brothers of Mrs. Barwis, and Corwin Skillman, and expect to return to Warren the end of this week.

Answers To Cranium Crackers

- Questions on Page Four
1. Andrew Johnson was impeached, but was acquitted.
  2. The House of Representatives has the sole power of impeachment. The Senate has the sole power to try all impeachments. Two-thirds vote is necessary.
  3. When the President of the United States is tried, the chief justice of the Supreme Court presides over the Senate.
  4. The Constitution provides grounds for impeachment shall be "treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors."
  5. Judgment in cases of impeachment does not extend beyond removal from office, but the person convicted may be tried and punished in the regular courts.

Give Dinner Parties For Jane MacDonald

Miss Ollie McNamara, Union street, gave a beautifully appointed dinner party and personal shower at the Hotel Carver last evening to compliment Miss Jane MacDonald, who is to be the bride of Myron Check on September 12.

Summer flowers centered the table artistically and the honored guest found a lovely corsage at her place.

Guests were Mrs. Edward Check, Mrs. Hazel Merenick, Mrs. Bertha Lyons, Mrs. Hazel Sarvis, Miss Kay Moore, Mrs. Maybelle Walsh, Mrs. Ethel Balderson, Miss Katherine Peel, Miss Helen and Miss Mildred Maher, Mrs. Sue McClen, Mrs. Mary Corah, Warren; Mrs. J. W. Campbell, Tulsa, Okla.

On Monday evening, Miss Kay Moore gave a dinner party and personal shower at the Y. W. C. A. activities building to honor the bride-to-be.

Margaret Sluyter Is Shower Party Guest

Miss Margaret Sluyter, of North Warren, who will become the bride of Arland Briggs, of New York City, on September 7, was the guest of honor at a lovely linen shower last evening, given by Mrs. M. L. Hamilton, Mrs. L. E. Hamilton, of North Warren, and Mrs. Raymond Leebur, Warren. The affair took place at the Leebur home, 1916 Pennsylvania avenue, east.

After an evening of games, a delicious two course luncheon was served, with dainty table appointments in pink and white. Zinnias and cosmos formed the centerpiece.

The bride-to-be was presented with beautiful linens from the Misses Mary Ann Geitner, Constance Day, Harriett Thayer, Iva Lauffer, Eleanor Snarburg, Jane Myers, Dorothy Hood, June Landers, Helen Fults, Verna Myers, Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. George Cowden, Mrs. N. A. Carpenter and the hostesses.

The sizzling Yankees and Cardinals were nearer the top today, but the best news on the sports page was that Gabby Hartnett will be back bossing the Chicago Cubs again next year.

Man and boy, Hartnett has been a ball-player's ball player for 19 years. For the last three, he's been running the Cubs, counting 1938, when he took over from Cholly Grimm in mid-season and went on to win the pennant.

He hasn't done so well the last couple of seasons, and you heard rumors that the Cubs were getting ready to brush him off. But

Gabby Hartnett

Phil Wrigley settled the thing yesterday. He admitted he isn't too pleased with the Cubs' showing, but Gabby, he said flatly, will be back next year, although he won't sign a contract until December.

By way of celebration, the Cubs went out and knocked off the New York Giants, 3-1, behind the seventh-inning hurrying of workhorse Claude Passeau in one of three major league games that got by Old Man Weather. Passeau fanned five in chalking up his fifth victory in 13 days.

This decision, coupled with the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-3 win over the Boston Bees, sent the Cubs into a tie with Pittsburgh for fifth place, the Giants to fourth and the red-hot Cards into third all by themselves.

The only American League tus-

"RED" FRIESELL TO HANDLE TILT AT ERIE FRIDAY

Erie, Pa., Aug. 28.—The No. 1 football official in the country will handle the Chicago Bears-Pittsburgh Steelers professional football game in Erie Stadium Friday night. This was confirmed last night by the special football committee of the St. Vincent De Paul Society of Erie, which is sponsoring the game for the Child Health Program in Erie.

William "Red" Friesell, from Princeton, long an outstanding grid official in college and professional ranks, and who is generally conceded by the National Professional League as the outstanding football referee in the country, was agreed upon to referee this game by Owner Art Rooney of the Steelers and Steve Halas, owner-coach, of the Chicago Bears, late yesterday. Word was immediately forwarded to the St. Vincent De Paul committee to this effect.

This will insure football fans of this vicinity of seeing a big league professional pigskin game handled under big league conditions by a man whose football decisions are never questioned, not even by the hard-boiled pros.

The other officials who will work the game are also men of long experience in handling college and professional games. The long distance phone conversation from Chicago to Pittsburgh, between Halas and Rooney, resulted with the selection of Friesell as referee. Harry D. Robb, of Penn State, as umpire, Calvin Bolster, of Pitt, as head line-man, and Carl Rebele, of Penn State as field judge.

Robb, Bolster and Rebele, like Friesell, are likewise veterans at officiating pro games for the National Professional League. The decision to use these men in preference to local officials was made in deference to the two professional teams' desire and the wish of the local St. Vincent De Paul Society to give the fans a real professional game under conditions identical to the real McCoy in big league football.

FIVE LETTERMEN ON EAGLE GRID SQUAD

Five lettermen reported with a good-sized squad to Coach Tord Beck at Youngsville High School's first football practice. Captain Gentle led the candidates who received their equipment last Saturday.

The boys settled down to stiff practice immediately as their first game will be a night game at Titusville on September 9.

The Eagles were originally scheduled to play Warren at Youngsville Friday afternoon, but the game was cancelled this week on agreement of both coaches.

While there is insufficient money in this year's budget to finance the city's share of the project, the mayor said yesterday, following conferences with Ernest C. Kessler, chairman of the Citizens' Stadium Committee, and Corporation Counsel Samuel C. Alessi, that he had worked out a plan whereby part of the cost can be defrayed this year and the remainder paid out of the 1941 budget, so that the new home for the Jamestown Falcons of the PONY League can be completed and officially dedicated in time for the opening of the 1941 season May 8 next.

Mayor Roberts said that an analysis of the present situation indicates that enough money will have been raised by the Citizens' Committee to pay the entire cost.

INDIANA PASSER SPIKED

Middleton, O., Hal Hursh, Indiana University's star passer, has his throwing hand wrapped in bandages as a result of a spike injury suffered in a softball game.

He saw the New York Yankees nip Jimmy Dykes' miracle White Sox 5-4 on a tenth-inning run sent home by Babe (batting average .263) Dahlgren's single and three innings of hitless relief hurling by Fireman Johnny Murphy. The victory boosted the Yanks to 21½ games from second-place Detroit and 5½ from the Cleveland Indians, both of whom were given a holiday by weather.

The victory boosted the Yanks to 21½ games from second-place Detroit and 5½ from the Cleveland Indians, both of whom were given a holiday by weather.

Gabby Hartnett wants Lou Novickoff, the Mad Russian flycatcher leading Pacific Coast League batters, and his second basing Los Angeles teammate, Lou Stringer, to finish the season with the Cubs.

BROOKLYN players can't understand why Jimmy Rippie, whom the club could have used, was permitted to go from its Montreal farm to Cincinnati for the waiver price. Rippie helped spark the drive which enabled the Dodgers to finish third last September. Home run batters account for the Dodgers trailing the Reds. A total of 80 have given the opposition 137 runs. . . . What Wyatt has tossed 15, Luke Hamlin 14.

Kansas City was so far in front in the American Association that an eight-game losing streak still left the Blues seven and one-half games ahead.

And although he made only five hits in 31 trips and suffered a 14-point drop, Phil Rizzuto, the outfit's little shortstop, retained the league batting lead with .362. Rizzuto is expected to replace Frank Crosetti in the Yankee lineup next spring.

PLAYOFF POSTPONED

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Rain last night forced postponement of the playoff game between Johnstown and Butler for the Penn State Baseball Association championship. The game will be played tonight.

SOLON FAVORS RECOGNITION OF SOOSE AS CHAMP

Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—Athletic Commissioner George Jones would like to see Pennsylvania recognize Billy Soose of Farrell as the middleweight champion.

Soose, former intercollegiate boxing champ at Penn State, has won the designation "uncrowned middleweight champion" because of his non-title victories over the recognized titlholders, Tony Zale and Ken Overlin.

Jones, who came here from Williamsport for the Angott-Zivic fight Thursday night, said he would take the matter up with his fellow commissioners, Havy Boyle and Leon Rains.

Soose certainly is entitled to something for the two good jobs he has done, and it seems only fair that we recognize him," Jones said. "Other states do it, why not us? Then maybe we could get the little match here this winter."

Meanwhile Soose let it be known he would like a non-title fight with Billy Conn, king of the light-heavies.

"I feel sure that I can beat him, even though I only weigh 162," Soose said.

Johnny Ray, manager of Conn, gave the suggestion the cold shoulder, saying Soose "doesn't belong in the same class with Conn."

Soose has lost only four of his 30 professional bouts. He was beaten twice by George Abrams of Washington, D. C., once by Charley Burley, the Pittsburgh negro slugger, and once by one of the "Fighting Ducas" of New Jersey.

TO START WORK ON NEW STADIUM AT JAMESTOWN

Work on Jamestown's new baseball stadium at Curtis and Falconer streets will be started on or about September 10 and will be completed before the snow flies, if Mayor Leon F. Roberts' forthcoming recommendation is followed by the city council. Indications are that it will be.

While there is insufficient money in this year's budget to finance the city's share of the project, the mayor said yesterday, following conferences with Ernest C. Kessler, chairman of the Citizens' Stadium Committee, and Corporation Counsel Samuel C. ## Mutineer Wouldn't Give Vitt a Nickel in Series; Red Sox Won't Trade Problem Child Williams; Economy Note: Senators Carry Only 20 Men

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

ONE of the Cleveland mutineers says he would vote against giving Oscar Vitt a nickel of world series money. The Indian camp blames Vitt for its six straight defeats in New York. . . . And as though things weren't tough enough, the Tribe's Cheerless Leader has hay fever.

The Red Sox will not trade Ted Williams, the problem child, even if it leads to his retirement. . . . Tom Yawkey means it. . . . can afford to 20 men. . . . five under the limit. . . . Minor league clubs carry more athletes than there are Senators at the moment.

Gabby Hartnett wants Lou Novickoff, the Mad Russian flycatcher leading Pacific Coast League batters, and his second basing Los Angeles teammate, Lou Stringer, to finish the season with the Cubs.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

While glancing through the files in search of flashbacks, we came across an account of a very historic baseball game, between Oil City's "Big Leaguers" and the Butter-Krusts, played in Warren on July 25, 1920, and won by the Krusts 7 to 6. The big thrill was that the Warren team was made up of non-paid, home town players while the Oilers' lineup was packed with ex-major and minor league luminaries, Evans and Cantwell did the hurting for Oil City, allowing 13 hits, with Art Johnson going all the way for the Krusts, permitting 18 hits.

Boy, the : was the days! A great team playing because baseball was a swell game, and any folding money that came their way was just like money from home. Walters, O'Connor and Poppleton were in the outfield that afternoon, Tim Burns at third, Gib Johnson at short, George Hinzinger at second, Bill Paris on first, Johnson pitching and Sammy Rasmussen catchin'. And there were Plane, Masterson, Strich and Anderson available for utility or battery work. Jackie Pfler was managing Oil City and Mickey LaLonge, pilot of the Jamestown Pirates last season, was behind the plate.

Wonder what's going to develop over in Bradford where the city council has signified its intention of cancelling its lease agreement with the Boston Bees. If Bradford pulls out of the Pony League, it will greatly impair Warren's chances of catching on, as it is this borough would make a nice fourth spoke in the Bradford-Jamestown-Olean side of the Pony League wheel. Somehow, we doubt that the Bees will just let the Bradford farm go. It appears to this observer that some very fine pressure is being brought to bear on the parent club by a town that insists on a winner, and we wouldn't be surprised if Bob Quinn's agents will hotfoot it to the McKean county city to draw up a new arrangement which will include a guarantee of better ball players for the Baby Bees.

If we are still officiating at this desk ten years from now, we expect to be called upon to dish up a headline which will read something like this: H. R. Fisher III Takes Conewango Valley Golf Championship. Out on the practice tee last week we were interested to see the eight-year-old out there learning the rudiments of the game from Harold Smith who tutored the youngster's father and his two uncles, Tommy Fisher and the late "Finn" Fisher. Hank and Finn weren't much older than young "Fishie" when they began tearing up the fairways, and not long after they hit their first shot they were playing on the local team. Both held the club championship as did the youngest of the trio, Tommy, who for the past two seasons has played only occasionally but who showed as much promise as his brothers while hitting the sphere daily. Eight is just about the right age to start playing golf, and if "Young H. R." develops a love for the game he can go far.

August 28, 1920. In a syndicated article received by the Times today, Billy Miske prophesies that on September 6 he will become heavyweight champion of the world by knocking out Jack Dempsey. Even if Miske fails to take the title there is little doubt that he will stay in there and fight, for he stayed ten rounds with Dempsey once before. Miske says he will not try to slug it out with Jack but will box him to death, make him miss and then batter him at close quarters.

August 28, 1930. The State-Bankers tied things up in the Times-Mirror Sunset League last night when they took the top-position crew, the Barrettes, 8 to 1. Managers Feiro and Gardner went into a huddle after last night's game and decided the playoff should be played Saturday at the State Hospital. Norman "Slings" Weinstock pitched a whale of a game, chalking up his ninth win of the season without a defeat by hurling a two-hitter. Schussler started on the hill for the losers but was relieved by Mike Soloch.

New York, Aug. 28. It will cost the National Football League more than a million dollars to operate next season. . . . Attention, Henry Armstrong: The N. B. A. is getting ready to strip you of your title if you haven't signed to fight a leading welter by Sept. 9 when their convention opens. . . . The Yankees say old Ted Lyons didn't make one false move in shutting them out last Sunday. . . . Dr. John E. Dorman, head coach at Upper Iowa U., at Payette, Ia., carried his umbrella, 1,200 miles to the N. Y. Herald-Tribune's coaching school. . . . ## Illinois Pro Cards 140; Denny Shute Is Minus His Appendix

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 28.—(A.P.)—The 1940 Professional Golf Championship boiled today to a series of two man duels, holding more swift disaster for even the best of players than any other test in the game.

Sixty-four players shot 154 or better Monday and yesterday to qualify for these matches. Dick Metz, of Oak Park, Ill., won the medal with 69-70-110, a stroke better than Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Winchester, Mass.

Metz's performance was four strokes higher than the P. G. A. qualifying record and five above the 36 hole mark for this 7,017 yard course. It was remarkable though under the trying conditions of rain, mud and cold.

Only seven in the two days' completed 36 hole scores equal to or better than par of 146 for this distance.

Defending Champion Henry C. Picard trailed Metz and McSpaden with 73-69-142. Ben Hogan was fourth with 143, Ed Dudley had 145 and Vic Ghezzi and Johnny Kiuder, 146.

None of the "name" golfers fell by the wayside in the qualifying round.

Denny Shute, twice pro king and former British Open titlist, qualified again for the final Club yesterday. He turned in a creditable 151, then admitted he had played all day with an ache, was examined by a physician, rushed to a hospital and operated for appendicitis. The surgeon Dr. David A. Johnston, said Shute was in "as good a condition as can be expected."

Johnny Murphy and Babe Dahlgren, Yankees, pitched three hitless innings on relief and Dahlgren singled home winning run in tenth to beat White Sox 5-4.

Claude Passeau, Cubs Tossed Y. This spot, and two others, seven-hitter, fanning five, to whip Giants 3-1.

Martin Marion, Cardinals his fourth-inning homer proved winning run in 4-3 victory over Bees, Mass., also eased in this way.

The sizzling Yankees and Cardinals were nearer the top today, but the best news on the sports page was that Gabby Hartnett will be back bossing the Chicago Cubs again next year.

Man and boy, Hartnett has been a ball-player's ball player for 19 years. For the last three, he's been running the Cubs, counting 1938, when he took over from Cholly Grimm in mid-season and went on to win the pennant.

He hasn't done so well the last couple of seasons, and you heard rumors that the Cubs were getting ready to brush him off. But

Phil Wrigley settled the thing yesterday. He admitted he isn't too pleased with the Cubs' showing, but Gabby, he said flatly, will be back next year, although he won't sign a contract until December.

By way of celebration, the Cubs went out and knocked off the New York Giants, 3-1, behind the seven-hit hurling of workhorse Claude Passeau in one of three major league games that got by Old Man Weather. Passeau fanned five in chalking up his fifth victory in 13 days.

This decision, coupled with the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-3 win over the Boston Bees, sent the Cubs into a tie with Pittsburgh for fifth place, the Giants to fourth and the red-hot Cards into third all by themselves.

"RED" FRIESELL TO HANDLE TILT AT ERIE FRIDAY

Erie, Pa., Aug. 28.—The No. 1 football official in the country will handle the Chicago Bears-Pittsburgh Steelers professional football game in Erie Stadium Friday night. This was confirmed last night by the special football committee of the St. Vincent De Paul Society of Erie, which is sponsoring the game for the Child Health Program in Erie.

William "Red" Friesell, from Princeton, long an outstanding grid official in college and professional ranks, and who is generally conceded by the National Professional League as the outstanding football referee in the country, was agreed upon to referee the game by Owner Art Rooney of the Steelers, and Steve Halas, owner-coach, of the Chicago Bears, late yesterday. Word was immediately forwarded to the St. Vincent De Paul committee to this effect.

This will insure football fans of this vicinity of seeing a big league professional pign game handled under big league conditions, by a man whose football decisions are never questioned, not even by the hard-boiled pros.

FIVE LETTERMEN ON EAGLE GRID SQUAD

Five lettermen reported with a good-sized squad to Coach Tord Beck at Youngsville High School's first football practice. Captain Gentile led the candidates who received their equipment last Saturday.

The boys settled down to stiff practice immediately as their first game will be a night game at Titusville on September 9.

The Eagles were originally scheduled to play Warren at Youngsville Friday afternoon, but the game was cancelled this week on agreement of both coaches.

INDIANA PASSER SPIKED

Middletown, O.—Hal Hursh, Indiana University's star passer, has his throwing hand wrapped in bandages as a result of a spike injury suffered in a softball game.

He saw the New York Yankees nip Jimmy Dykes' miracle White Sox 5-4 on a tenth inning run sent home by Babe (batting average .263) Dahlgren's single and three innings of hitless relief hurling by Fireman Johnny Murphy. The victory boosted the Yanks to 2 1/2 games from second-place Detroit and 5 1/2 from the Cleveland Indians, both of whom were given a holiday by weather.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Mutineer Wouldn't Give Vitt a Nickel in Series; Red Sox Won't Trade Problem Child Williams; Economy Note: Senators Carry Only 20 Men

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Service Sports Editor

ONE of the Cleveland mutineers says he would vote against giving Oscar Vitt a nickel of world series money. . . . The Indian camp blames Vitt for its six straight defeats in New York. . . . pointing out that he glorified the Yankees. . . . And as though things weren't tough enough, the Tribe's Cheerless Leader has hay fever.

The Red Sox will not trade Ted Williams, the problem child, even if it leads to his retirement. . . . Tom Yawkey means it. . . . can afford to. . . . The sale of Charley Gelbert to Boston cut the Washington roster to 20 men. . . . five under the limit. . . . Minor league clubs carry more athletes than there are Senators at the moment.

Gabby Hartnett wants Lou Novikoff, the Mad Russian flycatcher leading Pacific Coast League batters, and his second basing Los Angeles teammate, Lou Stinger, to finish the season with the Cubs.

BROOKLYN players can't understand why Jimmy Ripple, whom the club could have used, was permitted to go from its Montreal farm to Cincinnati for the waiver price. . . . Ripple helped spark the drive which enabled the Dodgers to finish third last September. . . . Home run balls account for the Dodgers trailing the Reds. . . . A total of 80 have given the opposition 137 runs. . . . Whit Wyatt has tossed 12, Luke Hamlin 14.

Kansas City was so far in front in the American Association that an eight-game losing streak still left the Blues seven and one-half games ahead.

And although he made only five hits in 31 trips and suffered a 14-point drop, Phil Rizzuto, the outfit's little shortstop, retained the league batting lead with .362. . . . Rizzuto is expected to replace Frank Crosetti in the Yankee lineup next spring.

BARNEY McCOSKY is one of the few hitters who mimicked another with any great degree of success. . . . The Detroit outfielder's model is Charley Gehringer. . . . Dolly Stark has the urge again. . . . is hoping his ailing knee gets strong again so he can pick up where he left off as one of the National League's better umpires.

Hitting home runs is one habit the Yankees never lost. . . . They have belted 122 to date.

PLAYOFF POSTPONED

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 28.—(P)—Rain last night forced postponement of the playoff game between Johnstown and Butler for the Penn State Baseball Association championship. The game will be played tonight.

SOLON FAVORS RECOGNITION OF SOOSE AS CHAMP

Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—(P)—Athletic Commissioner George Jones would like to see Pennsylvania recognize Billy Soose of Farrell as the middleweight champion.

Soose, former intercollegiate boxing champ at Penn State, has won the designation "uncrowned middleweight champ" because of his non-title victories over the recognized titleholders, Tony Zale and Ken Overlin.

Jones, who came here from Williamsport for the Angott-Zivic fight Thursday night, said he would take the matter up with his fellow commissioners, Harvey Boyle and Leon Rains.

"Soose certainly is entitled to something for the two good jobs he has done, and it seems only fair that we recognize him," Jones said. "Other states do it, why not us? There maybe we could get the title match here this winter."

Meanwhile Soose let it be known he would like a non-title fight with Billy Conn, king of the light-heavies.

"I feel sure that I can beat him, even though I only weigh 162," Soose said.

Johnny Ray, manager of Conn, gave the suggestion the cold shoulder, saying Soose "doesn't belong in the same class with Conn."

Soose has lost only four of his 30 professional bouts. He was beaten twice by George Abrams of Washington, D. C., once by Charley Burley, the Pittsburgh negro slugger, and once by one of the "Fighting Ducas" of New Jersey.

TO START WORK ON NEW STADIUM AT JAMESTOWN

Work on Jamestown's new baseball stadium at Curtis and Falconer streets will be started on or about September 10 and will be completed before the snow flies.

Mayor Leon F. Roberts' forthcoming recommendation is followed by the city council. Indications are that it will be.

While there is insufficient money in this year's budget to finance the city's share of the project, the mayor said yesterday, following conferences with Ernest C. Kessler, chairman of the Citizens' Stadium Committee, and Corporation Counsel Samuel C. Alessi, that he had worked out a plan whereby part of the cost can be defrayed this year and the remainder paid out of the 1941 budget, so that the new home for the Jamestown Falcons of the PONY League can be completed and officially dedicated in time for the opening of the 1941 season May 8 next.

Mayor Roberts said that an analysis of the present situation indicates that enough money will have been raised by the Citizens' Committee to pay the entire cost

Downpour Soaks PGA Tourney

While glancing through the files in search of flashbacks, we came across an account of a very historic baseball game, between Oil City's "Big Leaguers" and the Butter-Krusts, played in Warren on July 25, 1920, and won by the Krusts 7 to 6. The big thrill was that the Warren team was made up of non-paid, home town players while the Oilers' lineup was packed with ex-major and minor league luminaries.

Evans and Cantwell did the hurting for Oil City, allowing 13 hits, with Art Johnson going all the way for the Krusts, permitting ten hits.

Boy, the 1 was the days! A great team playing because baseball was a swell game, and any folding game that came their way was just like money from home. Walters, O'Connors and Poppleton were in the outfield that afternoon, Tim Burns at third, Gib Johnson at short, George Hunsinger at second, Bill Paris on first, Johnson pitching and Sammy Rosenbaum catching. And there were Piane, Masterson, Streich and Anderson available for utility or battery work. Jackie Pittler was managing Oil City; and Mickey LaLonge, pilot of the Jamestown Pirates last season, was behind the plate.

Wonder what's going to develop over in Bradford where the city council has signified its intentions of cancelling its lease agreement with the Boston Bees. If Bradford pulls out of the Pony League, it will greatly impair Warren's chances of catching on—as it is, this borough would make a nice fourth spoke in the Bradford-Jamestown-Olean side of the Pony League wheel. Somehow, we doubt that the Bees will just let the Bradford farm go. It appears to this observer that some very fine pressure is being brought to bear on the parent club by a town that insists on a winner, and we wouldn't be surprised if Bob Quinn's agents will hotfoot it to the McKean county city to draw up a new arrangement which will include a guarantee of better ball players for the Baby Bees.

If we are still officiating at this desk ten years from now, we expect to be called upon to dish up a headline which will read something like this: H. R. Fisher III Takes Conewango Valley Golf Championship. Out on the practice tee last week we were interested to see the eight-year-old out there learning the rudiments of the game from Harold Smith who tutored the youngster's father and his two uncles, Tommy Fisher and the late "Finn" Fisher. Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—(P)—Braving a cold, heavy rain, Toby Lyons of Cambridge Springs put together rounds of 72 and 77 to lead a field of 29 in the 36-hole National Amateur golf sectional qualifying test at Allegheny Country Club yesterday.

Two other West Penn simon-pures qualified for the national championship taking place at Mamaroneck, N. Y., September 9-13. They were Steve Kovach, Pittsburgh steel worker, with 72 and 78, and Fred Brand, Jr., of the Pittsburgh Field Club, with 74 and 78.

Indian Chief in Mississippi is Placed on Trial

(From Page One)
Tubee. Both were tenant farmers and had quarreled, prosecution attorneys said.

Wesley's family contended that the tribe should be allowed to try him in September council. They said that under the 1830 treaty of Dancing Rabbit, when their forefathers made peace with the white men in Mississippi and signed their land away, they understood that:

"If Indian kills white man, he be tried in white man's court; if white man kills Indian, he be tried in white man's court; but if Indian kills Indian, he be tried before Indians."

They appealed to the Noxubee county prosecutors who replied that the United States supreme court had consistently held that Indians should be tried on murder charges in state court. They further added that the Mississippi Choctaws had no legally constituted court.

Then Wesley's wife futilely besought the aid of the president, addressing a letter to "Frank D. Roosevelt" which said in regard to the treaty:

"It was signed by full blood Choctaw Indians as long as the green grass grow as long as the sun shine as long as the cloud come up and the water fall, as the branch do run, they don't boher each other and all be bold-shelle and not convicted by law of white man. Choctaw Indian law as long as new moon going, white man law not for Indian law."

Cameron was indicted last week. Since then his relatives have visited him almost daily, sitting quietly on the courthouse grounds outside his cell.

For many of the visiting Indians it will be their first return to the land signed away by their ancestors 110 years ago.

OBITUARY

JAMES ALLEN PETERSON

James Allen, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Peterson, 517 East street, died at the maternity hospital this morning at 10:30. Besides the parents he is survived by three sisters. Services will be held from the Lutz funeral home Thursday at 1:30 o'clock. Interment in Oakland.

TIMES TOPICS

93RD ANNIVERSARY

Many friends in Russell and vicinity called today at the home of Mrs. E. B. Daugherty, on the Big Four road, to offer congratulations and best wishes to her mother, Mrs. Rhoda Adams, who is observing her 93rd birthday. Mrs. Adams, daughter of Raymond and Julia Jones Briggs, has always lived in Russell and for several years taught school there. She was the first teacher of the Akeley Hollow and Randall Hill schools. Her good health has permitted her taking several lengthy trips recently.

Duke Planning Visit to States

(From Page One)
"The only property I own in the world," and the projected trip undoubtedly would include a stop there.

The duke's emissary was Captain Vyryan Drury, one of his aides. It has been known in Nassau that he had been commissioned with a special mission by the duke, but nothing else was said about him, nor were his whereabouts disclosed.

DES MOINES READY FOR NOTIFICATION

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 28.—(P.)—The drive to hold the corn belt in the Democratic column for the third consecutive presidential election opens here tomorrow when Henry A. Wallace formally accepts the party's vice presidential nomination.

Democratic party officials are predicting a crowd of 10,000 will hear Wallace fire the opening guns of the new deal's midwest campaign in his hometown.

Willkie Opens His Main Street Headquarters

(From Page One)
Immediately assistant secretaries for aviation in the War and Navy departments.

The Republican nominee drove here last night from Indianapolis, stopping at an outlying restaurant in that city to listen by radio to the acceptance speech of his running mate, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon. Willkie had flown to Indianapolis from New York.

As he ate a sirloin steak and sipped coffee, Willkie replied to a reporter's question by saying "I see no difference between Senator McNary's views and my own" on public power development.

Following up previous criticism of the administration defense program, Willkie issued a statement saying:

"In connection with my suggestion that there should be created a position in the cabinet for aeronautics, I want to make another suggestion immediately. The president should appoint at once an assistant secretary for air in both the War and Navy departments."

"These positions have been vacant ever since the president came into office in 1933. The failure to fill them is in part the cause of the present lamentable situation with reference to our aeronautical development."

"At the time he (Roosevelt) said he was not making these appointments 'in the interest of economy,' I doubt if in view of the subsequent expenditure of sixty billion dollars by his administration that that is a valid excuse for continuing the vacancies which would cost $24,000 a year to fill."

Willkie sat with his wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cora Willkie, both of whom greeted him at the airport, and heard the acceptance address over a portable radio.

Four-Power Parley At Vienna to Hear Hitler's Proposals

ported the Nazi formations were split up and driven back.

Six of the German planes were reported shot down by the air ministry.

The brigades rushed about all night fighting flames set by incendiary bombs in a southeast area, apparently in the region of England's "hell's corner" port of Dover, where the Germans may attempt to land for an invasion.

German bombers in increasing numbers, escorted by Messerschmitt fighters, crossed the southeast English coast throughout the morning while others fanned out over southwest England and Wales.

Members of Congress in Four States Win Renomination or Hold Leads

Incomplete South Carolina returns gave renomination to five representatives who had opposition, and there, too, nomination is tantamount to election.

Two Arkansas representatives appeared to have won in another state where Democratic nomination is as good as election. They were E. C. Gathings and W. F. Norrell, the only two representatives involved in the second primary held in race where no candidate received a clear majority in the first.

Delaware Democrats, in convention, nominated James M. Tunnell, Sr., to oppose Senator John C. Townsend, Jr., Republican incumbent, in November. They named Dr. Philip A. Traynor as Democratic candidate for the state's only seat in the house.

Fight on Measure Hopeless

expanded army's manpower needs by voluntary one-year enlistments.

The Burke-Wadsworth measure, on the other hand, would be effective at once if enacted. All men would have to register immediately, and the first contingent—probably of 400,000—would be selected for service soon afterwards.

Indian Chief in Mississippi is Placed on Trial

Tubee. Both were tenant farmers and had quarreled, prosecution attorneys said.

Wesley's family contended that the tribe should be allowed to try him in September council. They said that under the 1830 treaty of Dancing Rabbit, when their forefathers made peace with the white men in Mississippi and signed their land away, they understood that:

"If Indian kills white man, he be tried in white man's court; if white man kills Indian, he be tried in white man's court; but if Indian kills Indian, he be tried before Indians."

They appealed to the Nottoway county prosecutors who replied that the United States supreme court had consistently held that Indians should be tried on murder charges in state court. They further added that the Mississippi Choctaws had no legally constituted court.

"At the time he (Roosevelt) said he was not making these appointments 'in the interest of economy.' I doubt if in view of the subsequent expenditure of sixty billion dollars by his administration that that is a valid excuse for continuing the vacancies which would cost $24,000 a year to fill."

Willkie sat with his wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cora Willkie, both of whom greeted him at the airport, and heard the acceptance address over a portable radio.

Fire brigades rushed about all night fighting flames set by incendiary bombs in a southeast area—apparently in the region of England's "hell's corner" port of Dover, where the Germans may attempt to land for an invasion.

German bombers in increasing numbers, escorted by Messerschmitt fighters, crossed the southeast English coast throughout the morning while others fanned out over southwest England and Wales.

Members of Congress in Four States Win Renomination or Hold Leads

Incomplete South Carolina returns gave renomination to five representatives who had opposition, and there, too, nomination is tantamount to election.

Two Arkansas representatives appeared to have won in another state where Democratic nomination is as good as election. They were E. C. Gathings and W. F. Norrell, the only two representatives involved in the second primary held in races where no candidate received a clear majority in the first.

Delaware Democrats, in convention, nominated James M. Tunnell, Sr., to oppose Senator John C. Townsend, Jr., Republican incumbent, in November. They named Dr. Philip A. Traynor as Democratic candidate for the state's only seat in the house.

DES MOINES READY FOR NOTIFICATION

(From Page One)

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 28.—(P)—The drive to hold the corn belt in the Democratic column for the third consecutive presidential election opens here tomorrow when Henry A. Wallace formally accepts the party's vice presidential nomination.

Democratic party officials are predicting a crowd of 10,000 will hear Wallace fire the opening guns of the new deal's midwest campaign in his hometown.

Duke Planning Visit to States

"The only property I own in the world," and the projected trip undoubtedly would include a stop there.

The duke's emissary was Captain Vyvyan Drury, one of his aides. It has been known in Nassau that he had been commissioned with a special mission by the duke, but nothing else was said about him, nor were his whereabouts disclosed.

Fight on Measure Hopeless

expanded army's manpower needs by voluntary one-year enlistments. The Burke-Wadsworth measure, on the other hand, would be effective at once if enacted.

All men between the ages of 21 and 31 would have to register immediately, and the first contingent—probably of 400,000—would be selected for service soon afterwards.

There was a division of opinion as to whether the Maloney substitute would get more votes than previous proposals for conscription delay.

The senate worked today under an involved debate limitation which restricted the aggregate time allotted to any one senator to 45 minutes.

Barkley won this concession after a wearying 11½-hour session which ended at 10:30 p. m. (EST) last night.

Spurred by a new demand late yesterday from President Roosevelt for action on the bill, the senate came to life at the night session after members had spent eight hours twiddling their thumbs and listening to prepared speeches by both foes and backers of the measure.

With corridors jammed outside and the galleries so packed that some after dinner spectators were forced to sit in the aisles of the diplomatic section, the chamber acted at 7:45 p. m. (EST) on a minor amendment by Senator Connally (D-Tex.) which it technically had been debating ever since 11 a. m.

Things began to move rapidly. First, approval was given the Connally proposal specifying exempt state and federal officers. Then, with a minimum of debate, like action followed on a provision by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) to prevent employers from discharging men who might later be called to military service.

Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) succeeded in winning adoption of a provision requiring employers to pay back wages to an employee who was forced to get his job back by court action after his training period had ended.

Then Walsh rose to propose the elimination of peacetime conscription.

Senator Adams (D-Colo.) was quickly on his feet to observe if Walsh's amendment was defeated it meant that "young men may be inducted into the military service even if there is no imminence of war."

That was right, Walsh agreed, and it was on that basis the senate voted to reject it.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) then took the floor with his substitute—the establishment of an army training corps to be filled by voluntary enlistments. Conscription supporters swept this aside with a 55 to 22 vote.

Just as it seemed that a final vote on the bill might be reached, Senator Clark (D-Mo.) demanded a time-consuming quorum call.

Senator Smathers (D-N.J.), presiding, insisted that Senator Downey (D-Calif.) had the floor and Clark was out of order. Clark appealed from the ruling, but the senate shouted him down.

Undaunted, Clark declared that a "constitutional point of order" was involved, insisted on a new ruling. But when Downey told him he was tired and anxious to speak, Clark, palpably weary himself, sank into his seat.

General Slash Announced in Crude Prices

Regarding the situation in the Pennsylvania field the Oil City Derrick has the following:

The price reduction is one of a series of indications pointing to the downward trend of crude prices in the face of the troubles facing the industry. Because of the closing of the European export market, due to the war, the region has lost its market for an estimated 20 per cent of its refined products. Large inventories of bright stock are being held with prices scraping on the bottom.

On August 8, the Bradford Oil Refining Company announced it would pay $1.75 for Bradford crude, which was 25 cents under the posted price. The same company previously reduced the price by 22 cents on June 29, when the posted price was $2.25.

A number of refiners have curtailed their purchases of crude oil. Tide Water Associated is now taking 75 per cent of the amount stipulated in their contracts with producers. Kendall Refining and the Quaker State Oil Refining Corporation have curtailed their purchases by 10 per cent. Sinclair Refining Company is taking but 70 per cent of its contracts. Allegheny Refiners, of Bolivar, N. Y., are reported to be taking but 50 per cent of the previous amount.

PICARD WINS FIRST PGA MATCH EASILY

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 28.—(P)—Defending Champion Henry Picard of the home club scored the opening victory in the P. G. A. tournament today when he defeated Len Gallett of Milwaukee, 6 and 4 in their first round match.

Ed Dudley of Philadelphia fired a hole-in-one at his first round opponent, Henry Bontempo, of Springfield, Mass. On the 212-yard fifth hole his three iron landed 10 feet short of the cup and rolled in. He won 5 and 4.

The first mild upset occurred when Alex Gerlak, a comparative unknown from Catskill, N. Y., eliminated Jimmy Thomson, of Chicago, Mass., the game's longest hitter, 1 up.

LEADING STOCKS

RECORD GAINS

New York, Aug. 28.—(P)—A moderate upturn lifted leading stocks today close to the recent highs but the market stalled after a forenoon thrust forward.

Gains of fractions to around 2 points were in the majority in late dealings, with steels, motors and aircrafts showing the widest improvement.

Transactions increased considerably on the rise, setting a pace of about 400,000 shares for a full session.

grounds here.

He said that in spite of subsidy payments, farm income during the seven years of the new deal averaged two billion dollars less annually than during the previous seven years of Republican administrations.

He added that "any secretary of agriculture would be hampered by the reciprocal trade system."

The vice-presidential nominee urged that the federal government continue the development of hydro-electric power, declaring that power from navigable streams "should be a common heritage."

He told the crowd that he opposed "involvement in a foreign military adventure" but scored a "peace of appeasement" or the "surrender of our national dignity, independence of action, our political freedom and the civilized values we cherish."

New York, Aug. 28.—(P)—Senator McNary's address formally accepting the Republican vice-presidential nomination was termed "one of the best Democratic speeches of the campaign thus far" by Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn in a statement issued today through the party's national headquarters.

"Of course, as the Republican, vice-presidential nominee he found it necessary to poke a little criticism at the administration," Flynn's statement said, "but he left no doubt that he approves of the Roosevelt social aims and that he is proud of the votes he cast for new deal measures."

Ship Ends Perilous Crossing

British-born Nazi broadcaster, declared "only a miracle could bring the ship safely through the danger zone."

General hardship due to overcrowding, Tollisch said, was aggravated by much seasickness. Thirty persons were sent to the ship's hospital and two women, who had come aboard ill, died from heart disease, he added.

The "serene confidence" of Capt. B. E. Torming evoked "universal admiration," Tollisch said.

When passing through danger zones during the critical nights from Aug. 19 to 22 the ship flew illuminated American flags and was brightly lit. Many passengers slept with their clothes on or stayed up all night.

accuracy of my statement that only 343 combat planes have been ordered by the army, navy and marines combined, in the last 100 days."

Mr. Roosevelt reported that the national defense commission figures showed that contracts had been placed for 6,361 planes. Moreover, 3,654 were being built under "letters of intention" pending the signing of formal contracts.

Saying that objectives were being met in excellent shape, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that more planes could not be ordered until congress voted the $5,000,000,000 defense appropriation bill now awaiting senate action.

Washington, Aug. 28.—(P)—Replying to what he called "unintelligent criticism" of army and navy plane purchasing policies, Secretary Knox said today that the navy had 1,031 combat planes, 1,489 training planes, and 21 miscellaneous craft under contract but not yet delivered.

LOCAL CHEMIST GIVES ADDRESS AT SHEFFIELD

Sheffield Aug 28—One of the most interesting and informative addresses heard in some time by local Rotarians was that given before the service club yesterday noon at its regular luncheon meeting in Codelof Hall.

The speaker was Chemist Ogden Fitz-Simons of Warren, who gave a comprehensive account of the more recent developments and discoveries in the field of chemistry and explain how they have been employed by industry to improve existing and create many new commercial products.

Mr. Fitz-Simons dealt at some length on the newly developed products of the glass plastic and other industries illustrating his discourse with samples of many of the products he described.

The opportunity of examining at first hand these product samples coupled with Mr. Fitz-Simons' enlightening and entertainingly presented description of their use and method of manufacture was a most pleasurable and profitable experience for the Rotarians and their guests.

C. H. Whitaker, president was in charge of the luncheon meeting at which out-of-town guests were the speaker and Stacey Hay of DuBois, druggist who is managing the Sheffield Pharmacy during the absence of William Rawson, owner who is on vacation.

TO MEET STUDENTS

L. O. Eisenhauer principal of the Sheffield High school announced yesterday that all members of this town's Freshman class and other students who this term will be attending Sheffield-Hi for the first time are requested to meet with him in the school at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The principal will inform the students of the school regulations and will show the young men and women through the building to acquaint them with the location of the various rooms and departments.

REGISTRATION STARTS

According to local post office officials yesterday opening day of the four month period during which all alien residents of the United States will have to register or else be subjected to a fine and imprisonment saw only a comparatively few of the community's total of nearly 150 aliens apply at the office to obtain the registration card they are required to fill out or ask for instruction on how to proceed.

The attention of all local aliens is called to the fact that it will not be necessary for them to apply for registration blanks at the Warren post office, as was at first reported and that the blanks are obtainable at the Sheffield post office or any first or second class post office in the country.

CHALLEDON WINNER OF WHITNEY STAKES

Saratoga Springs Aug 28 (P) Challedon won the Whitney Stakes yesterday, as everyone expected but he encountered difficulties that no one had expected.

William L. Brian's handicapper king had to run the fastest mile and a quarter in the history of the event to beat out William Woodward's Isolator in a photo finish. His time was 2:03.1-5, three-fifths of a second faster than War Admiral ran in last year's renewal of the 13-year-old stake. The track record is 2:01.4-5, shared by Man O' War and Sir Barton.

Dusky Fox Isolator's stalemate and the only other horse to run against Challedon yesterday finished ten lengths behind the battling pair.

LOCAL CHEMIST GIVES ADDRESS AT SHEFFIELD

Sheffield, Aug. 28.—One of the most interesting and informative addresses heard in some time by local Rotarians was that given before the service club yesterday noon at its regular luncheon meeting in Cederlof Hall.

The speaker was Chemist Ogden Fitz-Simons, of Warren, who gave a comprehensive account of the more recent developments and discoveries in the field of chemistry and explain how they have been employed by industry to improve existing and create many new commercial products.

Mr. Fitz-Simons dealt at some length on the newly developed products of the glass, plastic and other industries, illustrating his discourse with samples of many of the products he described.

The opportunity of examining at first hand these product samples, coupled with Mr. Fitz-Simons' enlightening and entertainingly presented description of their use and method of manufacture was a most pleasurable and profitable experience for the Rotarians and their guests.

C. H. Whittaker, president, was in charge of the luncheon meeting, at which out-of-town guests were the speaker and Stacey Hay, of DuBois, druggist who is managing the Sheffield Pharmacy during the absence of William Rawson, owner who is on vacation.

TO MEET STUDENTS

L. O. Eisenhauer, principal of the Sheffield High school, announced yesterday that all members of this term's Freshman class and any other students who this term will be attending Sheffield High for the first time, are requested to meet with him in the school at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. The principal will inform the students of the school regulations and will show the young men and women through the building to acquaint them with the location of the various rooms and departments.

REGISTRATION STARTS

According to local post office officials, yesterday, opening day of the four month period during which all alien residents of the United States will have to register or else be subjected to a fine and imprisonment, saw only a comparatively few of the community's total of nearly 150 aliens apply at the office to obtain the registration card they are required to fill out or ask for instruction on how to proceed.

The attention of all local aliens is called to the fact that it will not be necessary for them to apply for registration blanks at the Warren post office, as was at first reported, and that the blanks are obtainable at the Sheffield post office or any first or second class post office in the country.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Shope were called to Johnstown yesterday by the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Twila Oshall, who underwent an emergency operation in a Johnstown hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. F. W. Barr returned home yesterday from Pittsburgh, where she had been visiting relatives.

George Evan, a member of the teaching staff of Pittsburgh's South Hills High School, visited relatives here and in Warren over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hanson arrived home Tuesday from McKeesport, where they were guests the past week of their daughter, Dorothy.

Sports Roundup

(From Page Seven)

Has reappeared upon the scene. And take it straight from Connie Mack—He's mighty glad to have him back.

Ellsworth Vines believes he can win the National Amateur golf title within two years. No, football has not been abolished from Stagg Field, Chicago. University officials are lining up a schedule of high school games to replace the now defunct Maroons.

New York papers are giving Leo Durocher three cheers for taking the rap for Medwick's slump—Leo says he put Joe back in there too soon after being bearded.

Homer Norton of Texas A. and M. is in town telling friends the razzle dazzle Southwest Conference has learned the value of one point wins and is stressing defensive play.

At Last!

There's more than one way to skin a cat. All season the Woonsocket (R. I.) combines have been trying to beat the Worcester Nationals, only 28 miles away. No soap. Finally Woonsocket caught up with Worcester at the national semi pro tournament at Wichita, Kansas 1,700 miles away and took their measure, 4-3.

Still The Tops

Wes Ferrell is no longer in the majors, but his popularity with the girls is on. Last spring we took a good-natured crack at Wes and got letters from a dozen Washington babies raking us over the coals. The other day we reported Wes was about to get married and since then his admirers in Cleveland, Detroit and Medford, Mass., have been heard from telling us how disappointed they are.

The salt mine at Retsof, N. Y., has a perimeter of 15 miles, which would require an area greater than lower New York City, or more than 10,000 acres.
